

TAX REDUCTION BATTLE BEGINS IN WASHINGTON

Democrats Strive To Cut Income Levy by Three Hundred Million With Republicans Opposing.

FIRST BLOOD DRAWN BY BIG SLASH SIDE

Automobile Manufacturers Oppose Retention of Present Three Per Cent Rate on New Cars.

Washington, April 5.—The republican-democratic battle over tax reduction broke out in all strategic sectors at the capital today while the minority members of the senate finance committee were winning their point for a revival of open hearings on the legislation.

Announcement of the senate democrats' program for a total slash of $300,000,000 brought a prompt rejoinder by Acting Secretary Mills at the treasury that such a plan if successful meant a $100,000,000 treasury deficit next year. But over in the house, Representative Garner, of Texas, leader of the democratic minority there on tax legislation, was serving notice that he would fight to the limit the reduction plan submitted to the senate by Secretary Mellon.

Democrats Are Victors.

With the contest gaining heat, another delay in early disposition of the measure came about though the decision of the senate committee, which now has the bill to reopen public hearings. They will be started next Monday on the demand of the democrats.

Automobile manufacturers and other representatives of the industry who have been opposing the administration's contention that the 3 per cent automobile rate should be retained will present their case first. The house repealed this tax and senate democrats have announced in favor of repeal of the levy, which nets about $65,000,000 annually.

Smoother Pessimistic.

Chairman Smoot, of the committee, who opposed open hearings in lieu of the extensive hearings conducted by the house, was pessimistic over the outlook and declared today's decision meant immediate delay.

Meanwhile the committee went ahead today on administrative provisions of the bill, giving approval to the present provision of the revenue law for publicity of returns, which was continued on page 2, column 5.

COOLIDGE FROWNS ON FLOOD PLANS NOW IN CONGRESS

Washington, April 5.—(United News.)—White house opposition to the Jones-Reid flood control bill which has passed the senate and is now pending in the house, was reported by Representative Madden, Illinois, chairman of the house appropriations committee, after a conference with President Coolidge.

The president is "not very happy" about the bill, Madden said, adding that unless the situation regarding expenditures is clarified, "there will be trouble on the Wash."

Conflicting estimates as to the total expenditure which the bill would impose were offered. Madden said one estimate was $1,500,000,000. Representative Fegert, Wisconsin republican, suggested $1,000,000,000. Chairman Reid of the house flood control committee, declined to estimate the total expenditure which might be involved but said the $225,000,000 provided as an initial fund in the pending bill was a very fair figure.

Madden said at the white house that he had never seen such an attempt to invade the treasury for unlimited funds.

Walsh Enters Race To Lead Democrats In November Battle

POWELL URGES PROMPT ACTION ON CITY SCHOOLS

School Board President Calls for Acceptance of Bids for All New Buildings.

Urging immediate and vigorous prosecution of the school projects contemplated from bond funds and praising Mayor I. N. Ragsdale for his action in vetoing a proposal to hold a referendum designed to abolish the high school system in Atlanta, George Powell, president of the Atlanta board of education, called on members of the board, the bond committee and city council to cooperate "to construct the schools with the least possible delay in order to obviate the most serious congestion problem which has ever faced the Atlanta school system."

Mr. Powell's address was made at a meeting of the Atlanta council, Parent-Teacher association, held at Rich's tea room, and was cordially received by members of the organization who declared they would do anything possible to assist in beginning the work with the least possible delay. Mrs. Charles Foster is president of the organization.

"Schools can be constructed cheaper at this time than they can in the future, because of the steady rise in cost of labor and materials; the children of Atlanta need them, and we owe it to these children who cannot help themselves to do our utmost to provide adequate and comfortable educational facilities," Mr. Powell said.

Sees No Opposition.

"Mayor Ragsdale acted wisely in vetoing a proposal to hold a referendum concerning abolition of the junior high schools in Atlanta. I feel sure that city council will concur in this action, and will ratify recommendation," Mr. Powell said.

SOUTHERN FLIER TO SPAN PACIFIC

Lieut. Hall, of Kentucky, Will Try Seattle-Tokyo Hop Late in April or Early in May.

New York, April 5.—(United News.)—Lieutenant Bert Hall, of Bowling Green, Ky., announced tonight that he would attempt a solo non-stop flight across the Pacific from Seattle, Wash., to Tokyo late this month or early in May.

If the ocean flight should be successful, Lieutenant Hall said, "he would continue on around the world by way of Harbin, Moscow, London, St. John, N. F., and New York in an attempt to lower the existing time record for encircling the globe."

On the Pacific flight the aviator will be competing for a $27,500 prize offered by the Seattle chapter of the National Aeronautic association and the Imperial Japanese Aviation society.

Lieutenant Hall was one of the seven original members of the Lafayette Escadrille and has an imposing war record. For the past five years he has been engaged in aviation in the Orient.

A single-motored monoplane was said to be nearly completed at one of the Long Island factories, and test flights were expected to be begun about April 15.

The distance from Seattle to Tokyo by the route Lieutenant Hall will follow is 4,300 miles and he estimated his flying time at 45 hours.

Montana Senator Throws Hat Into Ring With One Hand and Fight for Smith With Other.

SAYS ROBINSON CHARGES PIFFLE

Does Not Desire To Sustain McAdoo's Feud With Governor But Believes Himself Best.

Washington, April 5.—(United News.)—Senator Walsh, of Montana, made public tonight a letter denying reports that he has "entered the democratic presidential race to 'beat governor Smith' and to wreak vengeance for the defeat of William G. McAdoo in the democratic convention four years ago.

He feels his candidacy is logical because of his connection with the exposure of the oil scandals, he said.

"It is needless to assure those who know me as well as you do that I could not be prevailed upon to participate in such a contest or any contest to help wreak vengeance on any man," Walsh said in a letter to W. M. McDowell, Montana state democratic chairman, which constitutes his first general political utterance since he became an active candidate.

Walsh said it was natural for McAdoo to support him because of their long political association under Wilson, the fact that when McAdoo released his delegates in 1924 California went solidly to Walsh, and because McAdoo believes he is the best man to lead the democratic fight on the corruption issue.

"Above every other issue of the campaign before us," Walsh continued, "prominence will be given to the eradication of the revolting corruption shown to exist in our national life and to infect the republican organization in the exposures of which it has fallen my lot to have had a more or less conspicuous part."

"It would be reasonable, if not generous, to a great degree, to assume that the senator in Montana, surrounded by multitudes of others, entertains the belief that perhaps I would most fittingly lead in a fight to assure the cutting away of that cancer, and that possibly the selection of another candidate might imply a tolerant spirit toward it within the democratic ranks, a spirit approaching that exhibited among republican leaders, with few notable exceptions, from the president down."

Walsh said the contest should proceed in friendly rivalry rather than in recrimination and he added that

ALDERMAN COUCH PROBE CONCLUDED

Official Says Reappointment to Post Cause of Accusation; Investigating Body Defers Decision

Charges that he received $7,000 in commissions from purchase of a site for the merger of the Haywood and State schools were initiated against him by Dr. R. M. Eubanks, former president of the Atlanta board of education, because of his reappointment by Mayor J. N. Ragsdale as chairman of the school committee of city council, Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth ward, declared Thursday night in the last session of an investigating committee named by city council to probe the charges against him.

The meeting Thursday night concluded taking of testimony, but the board of inquiry will not render a decision until the record of the hearing has been transcribed. This will be the first part of next week, since more than 60,000 words are contained in the notes of the proceedings. Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, and chairman of the committee, stated.

Told Mayor of Plans.

Dr. Eubanks and Will L. Hancock, chairman of the schools' contact committee of the Atlanta board commission, waited on the mayor, according to the notes of the proceedings. Dr. Eubanks told the mayor that he would take steps to have Mr. Couch impeached and would attempt to have him indicted by Fulton county grand jury if he were reappointed chairman of the school committee of city council.

"I do not believe these charges ever would have been made against me if I had been relieved of this position, which I held last year and to which

Former Giant Asks $25,000 In Suit Here

Grover Hartley Claims Toe Was Injured by Georgia Brakeman in 1926.

Charging a flagman had stepped on his great toe, seriously impairing his batting average and handicapping him as a catcher, Grover Hartley, former member of the Giant squad, Thursday filed suit in city court here asking $25,000 damages from the Georgia railroad for alleged injuries suffered aboard a Pullman train en route through Fulton county in April, 1926.

Early on the morning of April 6 Hartley strode barefoot into the Pullman vestibule. Just as he approached the flagman from behind, the latter stepped abruptly backward, planting a heel on Hartley's toe and twisting off a nail as he swung around, the plaintiff says.

At the time Hartley was a passenger on the train returning to New York for the opening of the 1926 National league pennant race following spring training in Florida.

Hartley's petition points out that he, as a right-handed batter, throws considerable weight on the toes of the right foot while performing at the plate, and that the injured member caused him to flinch and pull away from the ball.

Likewise, Hartley charges his efficiency as a catcher was largely destroyed, since a player in this position habitually supports his weight upon his toes while behind the plate.

The resulting slow-down in his game, Hartley says, prompted Manager McGraw to discharge him, necessitating that he go to a "less remunerative and desirable" place with Indianapolis.

The petition was filed by the law firm of Jones, Evans, Moore & Powers, and Attorneys Wallace Daley and Ralph Williams.

Sparsely Clad Body in Abandoned Car Thought To Be Mrs. A. F. Carlselle, of Georgia.

SHOT UNDER EYE BUT NO GUN NEAR

Letters in Valise Show Woman Had Visited at Commerce; Georgia Tag Found on Car.

Inverness, Fla., April 5.—(United News.)—A woman's body, partly clad and with a bullet wound under the left eye, was found slumped over an automobile steering wheel just off state highway No. 5 near Hernando today. Letters in a suitcase in the machine tentatively identified her as Mrs. A. F. Carlselle, Limona, Fla., winter visitor and resident of Georgia.

The body was discovered in an abandoned roadway by a highway crew. A coroner's jury decided that the wound was made by a .25 calibre automatic pistol, but no weapon was found about the car. The automobile bore a Georgia license plate and its tank was dry.

Letters read to the coroner's jury indicated that a Mrs. Carlselle and her husband had spent the winter at Limona, having been there as late as March 28. Persons in Commerce, Ga., Birmingham, Mobile and other cities were named in the letters, and a purse containing $138 lay in the seat beside the body.

The woman, apparently about 40 years of age, was clad in a single undergarment, stockings and one shoe. The body was taken to Brooksville, where it was ordered held pending further investigation.

New York, April 5.—(United News.)—Chauncey M. Depew is dead. Like the unexpected finish to an absorbing classic mirroring the life and fashions of a nation, the public learned today that at 4:20 o'clock this morning he died of bronchial pneumonia.

He was 93 years old, and April 23, had he not caught a cold when he returned from Florida to his New York home, he would have been 94, and there would have been another of those birthday interviews to supply witty comment and occasionally pungent advice to the nation he saw grow from a backwoods settlement to a world power.

Depew met his biggest moment without a ready epigram. He was unconscious when he died, perhaps mercifully so, for he had hoped to live to be 100.

Depew had a good time while he lived. He made it a point to be kind and amusing even where wisdom did not strike him as essential, and as for being a gentleman, he came by that naturally. Depew died the chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central railroad and the most famous of American after-dinner speakers. He was also a statesman and politician, notable in the latter classification for having refused a number of offices, including that of secretary of state.

He was born in 1834 on a farm where Peckskill, N. Y., now stands, where his adolescent energy was expended in plowing corn and resisting his father's plan for him to become a landed farmer, and his mother's ambition that he become a clergyman. He went to Yale, graduating in 1856, and was admitted to the bar of New York state two years later. Yale was not a big college then, but Depew succeeded in spending four years there with a striking undisturbedness as a scholar. He was not precocious.

New Ford Car No. 1 Finished At Plant Here

600 Men Already at Work and 200 More Will Be Added Soon.

When sport coupe, motor number 60,356 rolled off the assembly line of the Ford Motor company's Atlanta branch at 1:30 o'clock Thursday, official production in Atlanta was started, and will be rapidly increased until a maximum of 150 cars daily is reached.

Aside from the fact that it means expedition of deliveries to Atlantans and residents of the southeast, of whom there are 15,000 waiting for the new model, the industrial significance of the fact is of far reaching importance to Atlanta and the southeast.

Already, 600 men have been put at work, and according to J. B. Groves, approximately 200 additional will be employed at once, with a gradual increase from then on until 1,000 men are given steady employment.

This means a pay roll of approximately $6,000 a day, all of which naturally will increase business in all other lines of endeavor. Too, the pay roll does not include the company amount of money that the company will spend for supplies purchased locally and from all parts of the southeast.

The first new Model A has not been delivered, and to whom will go the distinction of receiving the first completed unit from the Atlanta assembly line has not been determined. Mr. Groves and J. H. Wood, Jr., officially placed the new car in service for delivery when they rolled it from the assembly line under its own power. The delivery was the signal for enthusiasm among the hundreds of men employed at the plant, all of whom gathered around for the event.

Along with the production of the first unit, Mr. Groves announced that the branch had completed its course of schooling for every dealer in its territory and also that every dealer had a complete stock of parts for the new model, thereby assuring every owner of a car complete and efficient service all over the territory.

FLOODS FOLLOW ARKANSAS FIRES

State Is Battleground of Elements as Rains and Tornadoes Vent Spite on Rural Towns.

Little Rock, Ark., April 5.—Again the battleground of the elements, sections of Arkansas tonight were recounting their tornado and forest fire losses while a flood specter hovered over the upper White river valley and rain and windstorms raged as far south as Little Rock in the Arkansas river valley.

In the Fort Smith territory downpours and high winds today did considerable property damage, blocked highways and disrupted telephone service. About three inches of rain had fallen there and the Arkansas river was rising rapidly, while Potomac river was rising to its banks.

Small streams in northwest Arkansas had left their banks, washing out roads and making travel impossible. Scattered farm lands were inundated and upper reaches of the White river were rising alarmingly.

Hugh L. Stroud, of Cave Springs, Benton county, was drowned last night when he attempted to rescue some pigs from a flooded pen. His body was recovered today.

High winds swept Little Rock tonight and downpours flooded the streets. Damage was slight.

In southwest Arkansas telephone service was impaired and streams were rising alarmingly.

City Churches Prepare For Coming of Easter

SIX WEEKS UNION REVIVAL CLOSING TODAY

As Good Friday once again dawns upon the world, Atlanta, with the rest of Christendom, prepares to voice her homage to the Savior, who gave His life on earth to the service of His Father and His brother men, and who died upon Calvary that all human souls might be saved from sin and eternal punishment, was born.

In the churches, in the homes, in the offices, stores and places of business, the spirit of Easter will silently permeate the hearts and minds of all. Throughout the Easter season several adoration of the Saviour of Man will tinge the thoughts of every worthy man or woman.

In several of Atlanta's churches special oratorios will be given tonight. This follows the ancient custom of Europe, when Holy Week was featured by the Good Friday oratorios. In the olden days the churches were hung in black for this event and only a single lamp was lighted. At noon the doors were shut. An orchestral prelude was played, then the bishop mounted the pulpit, read one of our Lord's last "words" and made it the text of his remarks.

The seven "last words" are supposed to be the seven last sentences or exclamations of our Saviour while He was nailed to the cross before He died.

The bishop then descended from the pulpit and threw himself upon his knees before the altar. During this rite there was again orchestral music. He then mounted the pulpit a second time and pronounced the second "word" with a second discourse, and so on through the entire seven.

Francois Clement Theodore Dubois set the seven last "words" to music in 1867 and this work ranks foremost among the man he created for the church. It was while he was maître de chapelle at the church of St. Clothilde in Paris—where the famous Cesar Franck was organist—that he composed "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

Great Oratorio Tonight.

This magnificent oratorio will be rendered tonight in Atlanta at St. Luke's Episcopal church by a magnificent choir of 55 trained voices. Hugh Hodgson, organist and choirmaster, Continued on Page 10, Column 7

WEEVIL INCREASE SHOWN IN REPORT

Cotton Pests in Alarming Numbers Found to Have Lived Through Winter in Spanish Moss.

Washington, April 3.—(United News.)—A startling increase over last year in number of boll weevils which survived winter hibernation was indicated in a report announced today by the department of agriculture, based on examinations of Spanish moss in the states of Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Texas.

The findings, based on the number of weevils per ton of moss, record 65.9 as the Louisiana state average, compared with 15.7 for last year, 43.0 in 1926, and 6.0 in 1925. In South Carolina 21.1 were found, compared with none last year.

Southern Louisiana showed 385.1 per ton in 1928, compared with 70.0 last year, while the northern part of the state had 1.0 compared with 4.0 last year.

Comparative figures are not available for the entire cotton belt as examinations were made last year in Louisiana and South Carolina only.

In Alabama 45.2 were found in each ton of moss examined; in Texas 74.5, and in Georgia 88.7. 1926 figures showed 20 in Texas.

By the exception of those in Texas, weevils were made from February 21 to March 10. Those in Texas were made on January 14, 15 and 20 and February 24.

MARTINELLI LIKES OPERA SELECTION

Noted Tenor Declares Season in Atlanta Will Bring Out Best of Metropolitan Repertoire.

Chicago, Ill., April 5.—(Special.)—Giovanni Martinelli, noted Metropolitan Opera company tenor, who will be one of the stars of the approaching opera season in Atlanta, predicted today that the 1928 program will be the best ever presented in Atlanta by the Metropolitan. The distinguished artist is in this city for a concert engagement, the program of which includes several of the arias he will sing in his Atlanta appearances.

"I selected these arias for my concert because I like them and because I like to sing them," Signor Martinelli said. "That is one reason why I am looking forward enthusiastically to my visit to Atlanta. It is always a pleasure to get back to Atlanta's sunshine again, after the winter in New York, but naturally it is even more delightful when I am to sing in my favorite roles."

Martinelli will appear in the Atlanta season in the roles of Canio in "Pagliacci," which is to be given in the double bill with "Hansel and Gretel" on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 25, and Don Jose in "Carmen" on the afternoon of Thursday, April 26. Among other selections, his Chicago program includes the famous "Sob Song" from "Pagliacci," and the "Flower Song" from "Carmen."

"I don't believe it would be possible to select a better list of operas than the repertoire of the Atlanta season this year," Signor Martinelli said. "It offers everything opera is famous for, the old and the new, the tensely dramatic and the delicately beautiful, spectacular scenes requiring full chorus, ballet and orchestra as in 'La Boheme,' operas ranging all the way from the grand and awe-inspiring 'Die Walkure' to the dainty, playful fairy tale in 'Hansel and Gretel'; distinguished representatives of the Italian, the French and the German schools. In fact, to attend the Atlanta season would be to obtain a well rounded acquaintance with all that grand opera has to offer."

"Naturally all of us are looking forward to the trip to Atlanta. We can sing better when the audience is enjoying the performance, and we know Atlanta is going to enjoy this season's program and long remember it."

PRESIDENT SEEKS THOROUGH PROBE IN DOUGLAS DEATH

Postmaster General New Will Have Agents Inspect All Angles of Extortion in This State.

WILL FACE TRIAL UNDER STATE LAWS

All Data Compiled Will Be Open to Congress; New Charges of Tribute Are Made.

BY SAM W. SMALL. Special Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 5.—On the special insistence of President Coolidge, who was strongly incensed by reports of the Peterson tragedies at Douglas, Ga., growing out of alleged graftings from Peterson by republican office brokers in the state, Postmaster General New has ordered a complete investigation.

He has charged his inspectors and intelligence officers to secure all available facts in the case and make detailed reports. Other than to supply these to a congressional committee, should one call for them officially, he can only use them, it is pointed out, to inform the president and to put them into the hands of the attorney general if they reveal that any federal official has violated any statute covering any part of the alleged assessment transactions.

U. S. Law Does Not Apply.

It is also pointed out that there is no law of the United States that applies to officers or individuals in political committees who are not in actual federal service, who make and coerce assessments upon officeholders or holders that assume the character of graft.

There are statutes that cover any such holdups by persons who hold federal official positions. They were mentioned on the floor of the senate Tuesday by Senator George and others, but they do not cover the acts of individuals acting only as political committeemen, party middle men, or patronage advisers in state or local elections. For instance, the national committeemen or state committee chairman in Georgia might hold up and shake down every federal official employed in the state and yet not be liable to prosecution under any law of the United States.

Raiders Nothing New.

Breed political hijackers are no new breed of bandits. The writer recalls that 50 years ago, in the 1870s, there were complaints of President Hayes who issued a letter to the entire federal service in which he said:

"You receive your salary as an employee of the government for certain services rendered in your official capacity and not as a member of a political party."

DEMOCRAT GETS SEAT OF WILLIS

Columbus, Ohio, April 5.—(AP)—State Commerce Director Cyrus Locher, a democrat, was appointed late today by Governor A. V. Donahay to succeed the late Frank B. Willis as United States senator from Ohio.

Senator Willis, who was the "favorite son" of the Buckeye state, for the republican presidential nomination, died during a political rally in behalf of his campaign at Delaware, Ohio, his home, last Friday night.

Locher will present himself in Washington April 16 for the oath of senator after devoting the week intervening to the affairs of his state office. Some months ago he announced that he would be a candidate to succeed United States Senator Simeon D. Fess for the long term. Now, it is expected that he will be a candidate at the November election to succeed himself next March.

Presenting the credentials of appointment to Mr. Locher in a brief ceremony in the governor's office, J. A. Meckstroth, the chief executive's secretary, said: "We hope that Mr. Locher will remain in the senate until 1933, when he should be a candidate to succeed Governor Donahay as president of the United States."

Locher replied: "I want to assure you that I will not discontinue the post of minister to Japan by President Johnson. He refused."

my power to fulfill the trust placed in me, and not to take too much of what does."

Though Donahay has made no formal announcement, he is expected to appoint Lieutenant Governor Earl D. Bloom to the post of commerce director. In that event he is undecided who will succeed Bloom, he said.

Locher, during the five years he has served as commerce director, has been one of the governor's closest political advisers.

His work in cleaning up the "blue sky" department, which comes under his administration, won him recognition as a terror to fake stock promoters and promotion insurance companies.

The new senate appointee spent his early years on a farm in Putnam county, where he was born March 8, 1878. He attended Ohio Wesleyan university, where he received the degree of bachelor of arts and master of arts.

In 1906 he was admitted to the Ohio bar and one of his classmates in passing the bar examination was the late Senator Willis.

A Startling Truth,—

that only your mirror reveals! Beauty's enemy—those lines of fatigue and suffering which mar a pretty face may often be caused by tired, aching feet. Today when women are more active than ever in all affairs, foot comfort is most essential to their well-being. How necessary, then, should be the proper care of the feet. Yet it is so easy to enjoy restful feet. In the morning shake Allen's Foot-Ease in your shoes and go about your daily tasks in comfort without the annoyance of sore or perspiring feet.

This Antiseptic, Healing Powder, takes the friction from the shoes, and relieves perspiration, sore, tired and aching feet. Trial package sent free, address, Allen's Foot-Ease, Le Roy, N. Y.

the limelight. He became a recognized orator to politics, statecraft and business.

He became a contender for the republican presidential nomination in 1888, but withdrew in favor of Harrison. He served two terms in the senate. He had the privilege of refusing any and all cabinet posts. In 1904 he was a director in 74 great financial institutions—a world record. He was a member of the Peckskill, where his father and mother are buried.

COOLIDGE TELEGRAPHS HIS CONDOLENCES.

Washington, April 5.—(United News.)—President Coolidge telegraphed condolences today to Mrs. Chauncey Depeew, on learning of the death of the noted railroad magnate. The president's message said:

"I have learned with great sorrow of the death of Senator Depeew. His high sense of public service and his rare and fine philosophy of life, made him respected and loved."

"I have always valued deeply his unswerving support of my administration and shall always remember with pleasure his visits with you to the white house. Mrs. Coolidge joins me in heartfelt sympathy."

Secretary of State Kellogg, an old personal friend of Chauncey Depeew, also expressed regret at his passing.

ROCKEFELLER SENDS HIS CONDOLENCES.

New York, April 5.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr. today sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Chauncey M. Depeew on the death of her husband.

"I have just learned with deep sorrow," the message said, "of the passing of your dear husband and my life-long friend, Mr. Depeew. He will be greatly missed by the millions who knew him but to love and honor him for his noble character and high attainments and for the valuable services which he has rendered to his country and the world."

TAFT EULOGIZES DEPEEW AS FRIEND.

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Chief Justice Taft today paid tribute to the ability and personal characteristics of Chauncey M. Depeew and declared that his death had removed "a most notable figure."

"I greatly regret to hear of the death of Mr. Depeew," he said, "and had the honor of his long friendship and acquaintance. We were Yale men together, and that was a lasting bond between us. He has died full of years and honor."

"His gift of making other people happy in a rational view of life, as evidenced by his speeches since he retired from office, was extraordinary. His power of lucid mellifluous forcible speech was remarkable. Although an old man at many of the more recent republican presidential conventions, from four years to four years he made the best speeches that were made there."

"He was full of kindly humor and witty reminiscence. He had a sunny, cheerful disposition and an extraordinary familiarity with the history of the country, having taken part in much of it, and from having known most of those conspicuous in the nation for seventy years. Everything he said or wrote contained the charming flavor of a philosopher, a Christian gentleman and a lover of his kind."

 THREATEN TANKS
 IN HAVANA PORT

Havana, April 5.—(AP)—Exploding oil tanks at the Standard Oil company's $15,000,000 refinery at Regla, across the harbor from Havana, drove the inhabitants out of that suburb tonight. The tanks started to blow up within an hour after a fire had started which threatened destruction of the entire plant.

Two hundred men from the United States battleship Wyoming were dispatched to Regla to aid in fighting the fire and in keeping order among the panic-stricken inhabitants of the suburb. The entire Havana fire department was also sent to the scene, but at a late hour the flames were unchecked.

permits only congressional committees to look into the returns. No suggestion was even made, it was said, for a return to the 1924 statute permitting public inspection of returns.

A hint was given today by Senator Smoot that republicans might later revise the corporation tax, which was voted yesterday at 12 per cent instead of 13 1/2 per cent, to make the figure 24 per cent. The house voted to cut this rate to 11 1/2 per cent.

Mills is Outspoken.

Mr. Mills was outspoken in criticism of the democratic program to make the total reduction $300,000,000 stating that Secretary Mellon had explained in detail why a total slash of $201,000,000 was the maximum which could be considered.

"If the democrats can tell us where the figures are wrong we would be grateful," he said, "but they have not even attempted to shut inaccuracies in the treasury estimates, but have arbitrarily set $300,000,000 as tax reduction."

Mr. Garner in a statement declared he did not have so much of a quarrel with attempts to cut down the proposed $230,000,000 house reduction bill as he did with the manner in which Secretary Mellon proposed to do it.

Estate Tax Repeal.

One of the main provisions was for repeal of the estate tax, and the Texas member has consistently fought this; the administration plan also would repeal the estate tax, in the bill fostered by Garner for a graduated scale of rates on corporations with incomes of $15,000 or less.

During the latter part of the week, the committee expects to clear the decks of administrative provisions of the bill and then go to work after the hearings on the rate sections.

In its work on the administrative provisions today, the committee struck out a section of the house bill allowing exemption from taxation of payments made on account of taxes to corporations owning or leasing apartment buildings on the cooperative plan. Approval, however, was given another house provision which would allow exemption from the corporation tax of voluntary employee beneficiary associations providing for the payment of life, sick, accident or other benefits to the members of the association.

SEVEN LOSE LIVES IN FOUR STATES

Kansas City, April 5.—(AP)—Loss of life and property damage mounted today as the southwest checked the effect of yesterday's series of wind, rain and hail storms and small tornadoes.

Seven persons were known dead, several were missing and more than a score seriously injured.

Descending temperatures and threat of more rain together with other disturbances handicapped relief workers today, adding to the suffering of many people made homeless. Rising streams which approached the flood stage in several sections were watched with concern.

Four Die in Oklahoma.

Greatest loss of life was at Shawnee, Okla., caught without warning in the path of a cloudburst that threw a small creek into a raging torrent, driving more than 1,000 residents from their homes. Nearly seven inches of rain, accompanied by damaging hail, fell in two hours.

Four persons, three men and a woman, perished and two others are believed to have drowned. The dead are:

Mrs. Joseph Campbell, her adopted son, Fred, 15; Jesse Cruz and John Lewis.

The relief committee brought into existence at Shawnee, after a disastrous tornado in March, 1924, took immediate charge, broadcasting an appeal for $50,000 for relief work. Many homes were washed away and others damaged. Property damage in Shawnee was estimated at $1,000,000.

Kansas Wind Storms.

Three lives were claimed by wind storms in Kansas and Arkansas which in some sections reached a velocity of 80 miles an hour.

Mrs. Anna Green, 75, was killed when she was buried in the wreckage of a building near Topeka. Dave Corfman, 17, farm hand of near Chelsea, Kans., whose head was crushed by a heavy tree limb, broken loose by high winds, died today. Near Lincoln, Ark., Tony Spears, 12, was killed and five other members of the family injured, his father dangerously, when their home was wrecked.

Several small tornadoes in Texas caused some property damage but no loss of life.

Shortly after teachers had herded 45 pupils into a storm cave near the State schoolhouse at Dumas, Okla., yesterday, the school building was demolished by a tornado.

Homes Damaged.

Twenty homes were damaged or destroyed but proximity of storm clouds prevented any loss of life.

Three twisters, only one of which struck Duncan, passed on into Indian county, Ark., where a area was laid waste. Many persons were injured.

Oil fields in Greenwood and Butler counties, Kans., caught the full brunt of the high winds and more than 125 derricks toppled and smashed.

A second windstorm at El Dorado today demolished small buildings and damaged wire communications. School children were injured by flying glass.

LOREE DISCARDS RAILWAY MERGER

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Leonard F. Loree's plan for a fifth trunk line to compete with the four existing systems in the eastern territory was definitely thrown into the discard today at a meeting of the eastern executives. Support of the Pennsylvania, the withdrawal of which has been rumored for several weeks, was removed when Mr. Loree was informed at the conference that the Pennsylvania preferred to work with the other three systems for a four-trunk line plan, rather than a five-party program.

and dispose of such holdings as he would wish to relinquish. This factor in effect throws the final decision on the lining up of the eastern roads over into the middle of the summer, as most of the executives will be leaving on extended vacations within a month or two.

Reports coming from the meeting indicated a stormy session. Although a luncheon had been arranged in the offices of W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, after the conference, Mr. Loree did not remain.

Although reports have been current for weeks that Loree was to be tendered the chairmanship of the Nickel Plate in return for surrendering his fifth trunk line plans, his name was not mentioned at the meeting. It was reported that, in the new turn of affairs, it was not certain that any position in any of the four systems would be provided for him.

U. S. HURRIES CASE AGAINST STEWART

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—As government prosecutors and counsel for Harry F. Sinclair prepared for his trial next week, another government attorney took action today to expedite the appeal of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Indiana Standard Oil Co., from the court order affirming his arrest by the senate on contempt charges.

Leo A. Rover, district attorney, asked the District of Columbia court of appeals to permit the government to pay the cost of printing the record in Stewart's case in order to hasten it. Stewart's appeal is from the court decision vacating his writ of habeas corpus by which he temporarily escaped the arrest of the senate when he declined to talk before the Teapot Dome committee.

A formal motion will be filed tomorrow. Counsel for Sinclair said today that one point of his defense to charges that he conspired with Albert B. Fall to defraud the government in the Teapot Dome deal is to be that he did not want the lease. This, it was expected, will be used in an effort to disprove the government's contention that the oil man wanted the lease so much that he gave Fall $235,000 in Liberty bonds after the interior secretary had signed it. Fall, it was said, testified in El Paso that Sinclair accepted the lease reluctantly and at one point in the negotiations rejected it.

HOUSER REELECTED HEAD OF SOUTHERN CONVENTION BODY

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 5.—(AP) Fred Houser, manager of the Atlanta convention bureau, was reelected president of the Southern Tourist and Convention association at its second session, and Sam Fowles, of New Orleans; George Herbert, of Savannah; S. A. Spivey, of Gulfport; and Joseph H. Kerrick, of this city, were named vice presidents.

The second annual conference of the association will move to Tampa tomorrow for a joint conference with the Florida Hotel Men's association, which is holding its annual conference there and after a tour of the vicinity will adjourn.

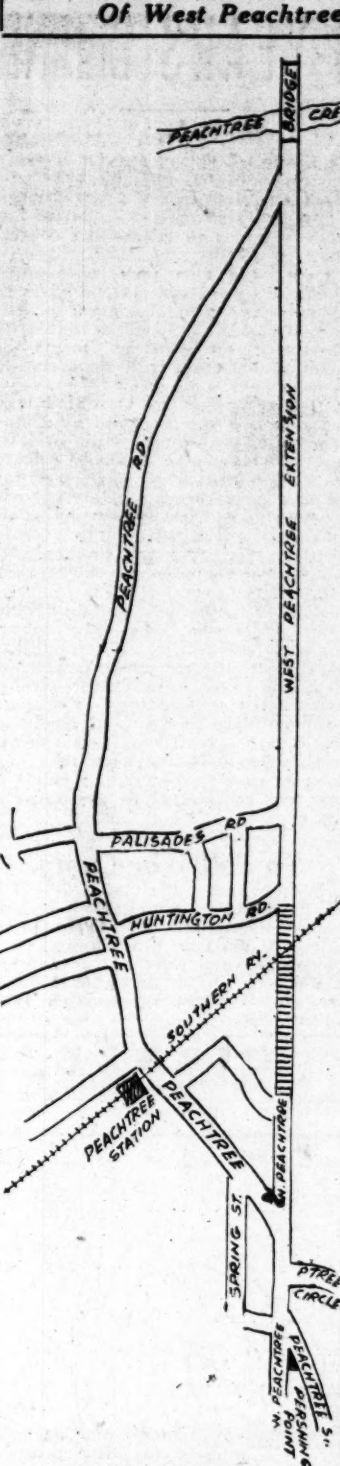

Fred Houser has been manager of the Atlanta convention bureau for many years and has been instrumental in bringing here the numerous large conventions to which the city has played host. He is one of the most popular officials in the city.

ROSALIA REPAVING TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING TODAY

Plans for the grading and repaving of Rosalia street, which ends directly in front of Girls' High school, will be discussed and perfected at a meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the mayor's office at city hall. The public is invited.

At a recent meeting of the Grant Park Boosters' club a resolution was passed requesting Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, Councilman Ben Huie and Charles Chosewood, all of the third ward, to introduce a bill to present the matter before council.

Proposed Extension Of West Peachtree

Proposed extension of West Peachtree street from its present northern terminus to where it would intersect Peachtree road near Peachtree creek is shown graphically in the above drawing. The extension involves construction of an underpass at the Southern railroad, and will begin at the present terminus of West Peachtree street at Brookwood drive and extend beneath the Southern railway tracks to Huntington road, and then in a straight line to the Peachtree creek bridge. Fulton county commissioners considered the project at a meeting Wednesday and plans will be pushed as soon as possible, it was indicated. Huntington road now turns to the north at its eastern terminus and runs several hundred yards along the route of the proposed extension. If present plans are carried to completion, the extension would be along this route northward.

REPORT SAYS TROTSKY IS NOW IN LATVIA

London, April 5.—(AP)—Leon Trotsky, once mighty leader of the red army but of late months an exile in the farthest reaches of soviet Russia, again has become a figure of mystery with rumors from various parts of Europe and denial from Moscow that he has been wounded by an assassin. Today comes a report that he and his wife are in Latvia.

The story that Trotsky had arrived in Latvia is published by the Russian Daily Sevodnja of Riga. It says that a mysterious group of Russians crossed the Latvian border the evening of March 31, near Silupe, among them being Trotsky and his wife, M. Lashkevich, former commander of the Moscow revolutionary garrison, and General Waznetes, a Latvian leader.

Sevodnja says that Trotsky has demanded a visa to Germany or France and that he gave the telegraph authorities messages to Boris Souvarine, Romain Rolland and Maxim Gorky. The paper says that Trotsky's flight was made possible by Lashkevich.

When Trotsky was sent into exile several months ago after his unsuccessful fight against the dominant Stalin group in Moscow, it was understood that he had been sent into farthest Turkistan. If he is now in Latvia, as the Sevodnja says, it would mean that he had taken a journey of several thousand miles from the extreme eastern boundary of soviet Russia to her western boundary bordering on Latvia. There have been no previous reports of any such movement.

DAVE WOODWARD DONATES 7 ACRES FOR NEGRO PARK

A deed to seven acres of land adjoining Washington Park, negro municipal park, was given to Mayor Ragsdale Thursday afternoon by Dave Woodward, prominent Atlanta business man, making the area of the park 21 acres.

Accompanying Mr. Woodward when he presented the deed to Mayor Ragsdale were W. E. Evans, an official of the Woodward Investment company; M. L. Throver, Atlanta real estate dealer, and Jack Morton.

Councilman John A. White, chairman of the parks committee of city council, stated Thursday night that he will introduce a paper at the next meeting of council thanking Mr. Woodward for the donation.

DOWNTOWN RAID ENDS IN CAPTURE OF TAMPA BANDIT

Tampa, Fla., April 5.—(AP)—A daring holdup in the downtown business section today ended in the capture of the highwayman and his subsequent identification as the participant in at least five holdups in Tampa in the last few weeks.

The man, John E. Spitzer, alias C. G. Witherspoon, 32, was captured by Patrolman J. N. Byrd as the result of a clever trap laid for him by Faber Hair, 25, and his brother, Charles, 22, employees of A. John Bright Shoe store, which Spitzer held up and robbed.

CLAYTON BRANDS MARSH GOSSIP

Washington, April 5.—(United Press.)—A denunciation of Arthur R. Marsh, former president of the New York cotton exchange, as a "trafficker in gossip," was made today by W. L. Clayton, Houston "cotton king," at the senate cotton investigation.

Clayton, head of the firm of Anderson, Clayton and Company, America's largest cotton brokerage house, was answering charges by Marsh that his firm was responsible for market manipulations with resultant losses to cotton producers.

Based on Gossip
"Every single charge that Marsh has made has been based on hearsay and gossip," Clayton said.

"All are false and most of them are contemptible. I deeply resent and denounce this action on his part."

Clayton was completing his 100-page statement under oath before the senate agriculture subcommittee conducting the inquiry, which in effect was a blanket denial of Marsh's charges.

Clayton said his company's success was due to world-wide organization and large resources, rather than market manipulations as charged by Marsh.

Marsh testified before the committee that Anderson, Clayton & company has repeatedly depressed the market, resulting in low prices to the disadvantage of producers.

Business Is Risky.
"We have been successful in business," Clayton said. "But our profits have largely been gathered from the far corners of the world, where business is attended by special and unusual risks, and where large amounts of capital are necessary."

"We think we have the most efficient cotton merchandising organization in the world, the product of a quarter-century of careful building."

"If this committee believes it is against the best interests of cotton producers that one firm should buy and merchandise as much as 15 per cent of the crop, then I assume there is some way in which congress may legislate to reduce the volume."

Farmer Will Pay.
"If that is done, however, the man who will pay the bill will be the American cotton farmer. It is in the interest of the cotton producer that there should be in this country at least two or three large cotton merchants with ample capital and big enough international organization to maintain cotton stocks at important consuming centers."

Ending this spirited defense of his company, Clayton denounced again the New York cotton exchange's futures contracts as "artificial and fictitious" in character—as he had done last week. He said that southern delivery of cotton on New York contracts and the growth of cooperatives are the two forces which can help most to remedy the present evils of cotton trading.

ROBINSON CHAIRMAN OF RADIO COMMISSION

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Ira E. Robinson, of West Virginia, the newest member of the radio commission, was selected as chairman of the commission today.

Booker T. Washington Students Give Benefit Revue at Auditorium

With an unusually large crowd present at the city auditorium Thursday night, students of the Booker T. Washington High school presented a "Fashion Revue and Follies of 1928," the proceeds of which will go to complete worthy projects at the school.

A feature of the entertainment program was a Russian street scene, given during a "trip around the world," which was followed by an "Egyptian dance" and a number of other interesting features.

The costumes and other equipment of the entertainment were made by students of the school.

Accredited By The National Association, The Southern Business College Grows

Business Education is now the order of the day, for without it, young men and young women have to plod along through life on one-third or one-half pay.

But, in order to secure the best paying positions, it would be a mighty big help to be able to say, when applying for a position,—"I have been graduated by a National Association Accredited School, the Southern Shorthand and Business University."

Don't be misled by the statements of some institutions whose standards are not high enough to admit them to membership to the National Association of Accredited Schools. See that the Business School you attend has been accredited by the National and you'll then serve your interests to the best advantage.

Pupils are enrolling daily. Suppose you secure catalog and begin next week, at 86 Whitehall, Southwest, the busiest place in Atlanta.—(adv.)

BORAH SATISFIED WITH PEACE PLAN

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Disussions being conducted between the United States and France looking to the conclusion of a multilateral treaty to renounce war as an instrument of national policy are proceeding in a satisfactory manner, Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, said today after a conference with Secretary Kellogg. The French ambassador, Paul Claudel, also conferred with Mr. Kellogg regarding the proposal, but what transpired was not divulged.

The interchanges between the two nations on the subject, which have been going on since last December, have reached a stage, it was indicated by state department officials, where further diplomatic notes with France may no longer be necessary. Since submitting the views of Foreign Minister Briand in a note on March 30, the French ambassador here has twice conferred with the secretary of state.

Whether Mr. Kellogg will make a written reply to M. Briand's latest views depends on the outcome of these conversations. Officials said today Mr. Kellogg might not make a reply at all to the French foreign minister, relying on his discussions with Ambassador Claudel here to determine when and in what manner the next step shall be taken.

The French government in its last note, after citing what it considered the three fundamental points and its new concept of the proposed treaty, agreed, as had been suggested by Mr. Kellogg, to submit forthwith to Britain, Germany, Japan and Italy the text of the Franco-American diplomatic correspondence on the subject.

M. Briand proposed that there be submitted at the same time a draft agreement, with the changes of wording made necessary by the new concept, for the assent of the four governments, and suggestion made to these nations that they join in seeking any adjustments necessary to the possibility of reconciling previous obligations with the terms of the contemplated new treaty.

Her Asthma and Cough Are Gone

Suffered 15 Years. Found Quick Relief. No Sign of It Now.

People tortured by asthma or bronchial trouble will be glad to know how Mrs. Amanda Kincaide, 1433 Lafayette St., Detroit, Mich., ended the disease. She says:

"I had asthma 15 years. I was very weak, and my cough was awful. I had to sit up in bed for hours to get my breath. I am 60 years old, and had almost given up hope of ever being well. One day, I read what Zemo had done and decided to try it. After the first few doses, I began to feel better, and kept right on improving. My asthma is gone. I have no cough and feel fine in every way."

This remarkable letter is just one of hundreds received from sufferers from asthma, bronchitis and chronic coughs, telling how their troubles left and never returned. Their letters and a booklet of vital information about this stable disease, will be sent free by Navor Medicine Co., 650 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. No matter how serious your case seems, write for this free information, and find out how thousands have been restored to health.

Once a School Teacher—Later a Famous Physician

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save enough money to put him through medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horseback through the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and easily recognized most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods. Finally, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known general tonic for building up strength, restoring impaired tissues and enriching the blood. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell it, in liquid or tablet form, you can obtain a trial phr. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.—(adv.)

Pantomime Will Symbolize Clean-Up, Paint-Up Spirit

Charles Harwell and Jeanette McNeil, two of the Dutch ballet dancers in the "Clean-Up, Paint-Up" pageant at the Wren's Nest at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

West End's final drive to make itself the model section of Atlanta for cleanliness and brightness of freshly painted homes, will be launched at a rally at the Wren's Nest, Uncle Remus' old home on Gordon street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Featuring the rally will be a fairy-like pantomime symbolizing the spirit of the "Clean-Up—Paint-Up" campaign which is now in progress in West End and will be extended throughout the city during "Clean-Up—Paint-Up" week—April 16-21.

Jacqueline Gullatt, popular six-year-old professional dancer, and Harold Wallace will represent a bride and groom in a brand new love-nest. The tiny bride gets careless when her husband is away at work and the "demon of dirt," represented by Miss Mildred Arnold, the director, smears up the bungalow before the bride awakens to the damage that is being done. Answering her tears, the "Spirit of Clean-Up Week" comes in with a host of little Dutch boys and girls, with scrubbing brushes and paint brushes, put the house back in order before the bridegroom returns. The playlet will be staged in a series of dances in costume.

George W. West, president of the Georgia Building and Loan League and former president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will include:

WHITE DRAGS KLAN INTO D. A. R. ROW

Emporia, Kan., April 5.—(AP)—William Allen White, Emporia editor and author, declared in a statement today that the speakers "blacklist" of the Daughters of the American Revolution "goes out of its way to pick out and include the peculiar enemies of the Ku Klux Klan."

He asserted that Mrs. Alfred J. Rousseau, president-general of the D. A. R., had placed individuals and organizations under the ban of the D. A. R. disapproval without consulting her national board of management. Mr. White is on the D. A. R. "blacklist."

"Mrs. Rousseau is a lovely lady with many beautiful qualities of heart and mind," he said, "but in her enthusiasm she has allowed several lengths of Ku Klux Knights to show under her red, white and blue."

"The D. A. R. has yanked the Klan out of the cow pastures and set it down in the breakfast room of respectability, removing its famous hood and putting on a transformation."

"This list," he said, "particularly picks out organizations affecting colored people, Jews and Catholics. For instance, one of the banned organizations is the National Catholic Welfare council, another is the League of Jewish Women, still another is the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People."

FRANK M. HAYGOOD OF LAWRENCEVILLE DIES IN COLORADO

Lawrenceville, Ga., April 5.—(Special.)—The remains of Frank Meadows Haygood, 31, who died at his home in Denver, Colo., on the morning of April 1, after a two days' illness of pneumonia, will arrive at his old Lawrenceville home for burial, Wednesday, April 11. Mr. Haygood had been in ill health for nine years, due to an injury received in the navy while serving in the world war.

He was the son of the late Jasper L. Haygood, prominent in newspaper work in Lawrenceville for years, and Mrs. Mary Haygood. He was a member of the local Methodist church, a Mason, an Elk; also a member of the Deaver Post American Legion.

Mr. Haygood was made judge of the probate court of the city of Denver and was serving his second term at the time of his death.

FATAL KIDNAPING FEARED IN RUMOR OF WRAPPED BODY

Los Angeles, April 5.—(P)—The disappearance of a nine-year-old Los Angeles boy almost a month ago, coupled with reports of a mysterious automobile bearing the newspaper-wrapped body of a boy about the streets of the city, developed into what police today believed was a kidnapping coup, executed for the sake of vengeance.

The vengeance motive entered into the case yesterday when police announced they had been given a letter, written by Walter J. S. Collins, father of the boy, in Folsom prison, to his life here suggesting that enmity might have provoked the kidnapping of the youth, Walter Collins.

Why the youth or his mother should be victimized was not revealed and the letter was not made public. The elder Collins is serving a long sentence for robbery.

The case was called to the attention of the police when an automobile service station operator reported a man and woman stopped at his place of business and he saw the newspaper-wrapped body in the car. He furnished four numbers of the license number, and although the automobile was reported to have been seen several times afterwards, police were unable to trace it.

TAX APPEAL BOARD 3 YEARS BEHIND

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Declaring the board of tax appeals is three years behind in its decisions, the treasury has notified congress that it plans a new policy in the settlement of tax cases in order to relieve the congestion.

Under the new plan more cases would be turned over to the office of the treasury's general counsel for settlement rather than sent to the board. There are now pending before the board 21,000 cases with more coming in each day.

"The difficulty has been that each tax case has been regarded as a lawsuit," Under Secretary Mills said today. "These cases should be submitted to arbitration by competent tax officials in the bureau of internal revenue. In many cases arbitration would yield the government more revenue as the government has won only 41 per cent of the cases appealed to the board of tax appeals."

"The difficulty has been in finding tax officials who had courage enough to settle a case in view of former charges by congressional committees that the cases were settled through bribery and crookedness. The treasury now plans by a careful process to instill into tax officials confidence in settling cases in the hope that only complex cases involving new points of law will be referred to the board of tax appeals."

Trinity Choir To Present 'The Crucifixion' Tonight

Sir John Stainer's "The Crucifixion," a meditation on the sacred passion of the Holy Redeemer, will be presented this evening at 8 o'clock by the choir of Trinity M. E. church. Dr. Ben J. Potter, A. R. C. O., London, organist and choir director, will be in charge.

Trinity choir is composed of 40 members, including soloists, and since its organization some 15 years ago, has attracted wide and favorable attention of music lovers of the city. During this period it has been the custom from time to time for an occasional service, composed entirely of choral and organ numbers, to take the place of the regular evening hour of worship. These services have always attracted large congregations from all denominations.

The impressive solemnity and beauty of "The Crucifixion," generally accepted by the musical world as Stainer's masterpiece, catches the spirit and atmosphere of that most awful tragedy which has its anniversary today. Practically all the text is taken from the scriptural account of the passion of our Lord. While the rendition of "The Crucifixion," as a whole, is only appropriate on Good Friday, many of the choral numbers, such as "God So Loved the World," are frequently sung by choirs as part of the regular service and are familiar to all.

The soloists will be Mrs. Nellie

Atlanta Post of D. A. V. Plans Membership Drive As Fund Appeal Starts

Bobby Jones Will Head Atlanta Campaign To Raise $50,000 as Quota of $2,000,000 Fund.

Acceptance Thursday by Robert T. ("Bobby") Jones, Jr., Atlanta's world-famous golfer, of the chairmanship of a campaign to raise $50,000 as this city's quota of a fund for the work of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, was followed by announcement of a membership drive to increase the enrollment of Woodrow Wilson chapter, No. 1, of the organization.

The post of chairman was offered to Jones by Mayor Ragsdale in the mayor's office with a number of prominent Atlantans, who are pledged to the cause, in attendance. This city's quota is a part of the national campaign for $2,000,000 which will be launched to meet financial needs of disabled American veterans for the next 15 years.

The following executive advisory committee has been appointed to aid in the campaign:

Eugene E. Black, Julian V. Boehm, Dr. Frank K. Boland, Dr. Marion L. Brittain, Father M. A. Cotter, Milton Duran, Jr., Hugh M. Dorsey, Roy Dorsey, W. C. Edwards, W. D. Hoffman, Robert T. ("Bobby") Jones, Harrison Jones, J. Sherrard Kennedy, Baxter Maddox, Rabbi David Marx.

HAUGEN REVAMPS FARMER AND BILL

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—The new McNary-Haugen bill introduced yesterday was described to the house today in a formal report by Chairman Haugen of its agriculture committee as a measure differing materially from that voted a year ago by President Coolidge and so modified that it now proposes "two distinct and entirely separable remedies" for the farm situation.

"The changes which have been made," he said, "in a large part the objections expressed by the president in his message returning the former measure without his approval. Especially does the present bill provide an almost unlimited opportunity for the administrative body created under it to deal with the problem of agricultural surpluses through loans, which those who have opposed the past committee bills urged would be fully adequate to meet the situation."

Two Distinct Remedies.
"The present bill proposes two distinct and entirely separable remedies—first, loans to cooperative associations at a low rate of interest, as frequently suggested by the secretary of agriculture, Mr. Jardine; and, second, in case of failure of the first remedy to accomplish the purpose of the act, the making of marketing agreements providing that cost and losses on transactions authorized under the agreements would be repaid by the commodity whose producers receive the direct benefit."

Both methods are directed toward promoting orderly marketing, in the case of tariff-protected commodities, making the tariff effective."

Mr. Haugen declared that if any court should restrain the proposed federal farm board from entering into marketing agreements financed by equalization fees, that the board, under the new bill, would be entirely free to operate under the loan provisions.

"The committee does not believe that the contingency will arise," he continued, "but if the constitutionality of any provision relating to marketing agreements is not sustained, the bill still would present a workable measure. If all the major proposals of the bill are sustained, which the committee believes will be the case, then in addition to providing marketing assistance to cooperatives through loans, the measure would permit producers of surplus commodities to receive an assured benefit from operations financed by fees collected upon such commodities."

Specific Changes.
Many specific changes were made to meet "executive objections." These were set forth as follows:

Application to all agricultural commodities instead of six basic commodities; elimination of restrictions on the president's appointed powers regarding selection of board members; provision for assistance for perishable agricultural commodities; and prohibition of "unreasonable discrimination" in making marketing agreements.

The bill also would eliminate "the state convention machinery" proposed in the old bill to obtain the assent of producers regarding commencement and termination of operations with any commodities. It also would eliminate the "serial receipts for cotton" and provide a "limit liability" for the government.

Clarifies Provisions.
It also "clarifies insurance provisions" and provides a "fee on importation of food products," which the president said met the objection raised by the president that the old measure embodied no provision covering imported products.

The present bill provides for the collection of a fee on the importation of the commodity during a marketing period and for the collection of an equivalent fee upon the importation of any food product manufactured from such a commodity.

Mr. Haugen has expressed hope that the measure, which in a slightly different form is now being considered by the senate, will be called up in the house within a week or ten days.

ALDERMAN COUCH PROBE CONCLUDED

Mr. Ragsdale renamed me," Mr. Couch said.

Taking the stand in his own defense, the accused official denied any wrong doing and declared Dr. Eubanks would "have been fairer if he had come to me and told me of the charges which were contained in the minutes of the school contact committee of the Atlanta bond commission rather than making the charges at a public meeting when I was not present."

Eleven Witnesses Called.
Eleven witnesses, including Mr. Couch and Dr. Eubanks, were called to the stand by the prosecution, and ten of these declared Mr. Couch had nothing to do with the transaction, and reiterated statements of more than a score of other witnesses called during the trial who expressed confidence in his honesty and declared that, so far as they knew, Mr. Couch did not receive a penny from the deal.

Dr. Eubanks and Mr. Couch faced each other twice during the hearing Thursday night, when Dr. Eubanks mounted the stand and when the accused official took the witness chair in his own defense.

Dr. Eubanks declared he meant nothing personal in his assertions, and denied making any "charge." He also declared his complaint was based on records of the school contact committee of the bond commission, and stated he still stood on the record.

"This thing has hurt me more than anything I have ever been through in my entire life," Mr. Couch said. "All I have or ever expect to have is my honesty and integrity, and it has been a source of grief to me that these unfounded charges have been made."

Expected No Reward.
"I never received or expected to receive any reward for anything I did in connection with the merger of the two schools. I do believe that my political future depended on getting some of the bond money for the little children of my section of the city inasmuch as they did not reap any of the benefits of expenditure of funds from the 1922 issue. I told Mr. Frank Neely, chairman of the bond commission, and practically every other official that, and still believe it."

"I declined to get any of the options on the property or to have anything to do with the real estate transaction, but did fight for the merger of the two schools. As chairman of the school committee of city council, I felt that the people of my ward would justly hold me responsible for not obtaining any school improvements for the sadly-neglected children of that section of the city, and so expressed myself."

"Mr. Dolvin told the truth when he said I told him I would not support purchase of the tract he offered

Japanese Good-Will Doll Visits Camp Fire Girls

Miss Ehime, one of 59 valuable Japanese dolls sent to the children of America as messengers of good-will from the children of Japan, is now in Atlanta as the guest of the Camp Fire Girls. The beautiful doll will be on exhibit today and through Monday in the window of the Davison-Paxon company store. In the picture, with Miss Ehime, are, from left to right, Gladys Pratt, Martha Rogers and Mary Zachary.

Bearing a silent message of friendship and international sisterhood from the cherry blossom girls of the land of flowers, Japan, to the girlhood of the United States, Miss Ehime, a beautiful Japanese doll, two and a half feet tall, exquisitely gowned and a striking example of exotic Oriental beauty, has come to Atlanta to be the guest of the Atlanta Camp Fire Girls from April 5 to 10.

Friday Miss Ehime will be on exhibition in the big window of the Davison-Paxon company store and will remain there through Monday in order that all Atlanta may see the symbol of the friendship of Japanese children for the children of America. Miss Ehime is one of 59 Japanese dolls, each valued at $200, which have been sent from Japan in return for 12,000 American dolls which children of this land sent to Japan last year under auspices of the committee on world friendship among children. Among the 12,000 American harbingers of friendship were 49 special dolls, one representing "Miss America," and one for each of the 48 states. After being shown in the leading cities of Japan, these 49 were taken to the emperor's palace and "Miss America" was given to the infant Princess Teru.

For $65,000, but I did support it at the figure it was finally purchased, $42,050.

"No witness has testified that I got any money, but every one of them has stated he believed I did not."

Received No Compensation.
"I think I did witness three of the options, but I did not receive any compensation for that service. I did not expect any. I was working for the children as zealously as possible and would do it again."

"So far as I am able to recall, I never mention 'I' in my conversation with Mr. Hancock and William A. Vernoy, also a member of the school contact committee of the bond commission, as is recorded in the minutes of the contact committee. If I did, I meant the Dolvin Realty company, the concern with which I was employed at the time. The minutes show that I 'they, we and I' in referring to what I believed to be profit of $1,000 and a commission of five per cent if the company was permitted to remove the houses from the tract. That is the only word I ever uttered in connection with the merger which I would change, if I had said it."

"For the past ten years I have been a city official and never before have I been accused of anything wrong and so far as I know there never was an innuendo or implication of any kind which reflected on my honesty or integrity before. I bear no malice to any man."

"I hope Mr. Couch does not feel that I am trying to persecute him. I am only seeking the truth," Dr. Eubanks said in opening his statement.

"It was far better that the matter should be cleared up in the open than that it should have been whispered by city gossip."

Believed Couch Honest.
Willis Sutton, superintendent of schools, was one of the witnesses, and failed on cross-examination by Dr. Eubanks to recall telling Dr. Eubanks that the deal was irregular. He declared he believed Mr. Couch honest and that he had known him since 1913.

"I believe Mr. Couch is thoroughly honest and that he has been in all his dealings. I do believe he got any money from this transaction or that he has received any from any other deal," Mr. Sutton said.

Oliver Dolvin, of the Dolvin Realty company, was recalled to the stand, and among other witnesses who testified Thursday night were W. H. Farrell, J. A. Bridwell, J. L. Shannon and W. W. Allen, owners of part of the tract which was bought; C. B. Brewer, of the Atlanta Title and Trust company; Miss Muriel Burt, secretary of the Atlanta board of education; Horace Russell, member of the school committee of city council in 1927 and former councilman from the ninth ward; and George W. Powell, president of the board.

MAROONED WIVES

There are hundreds of marooned wives in Atlanta. And they are marooned by an idea.

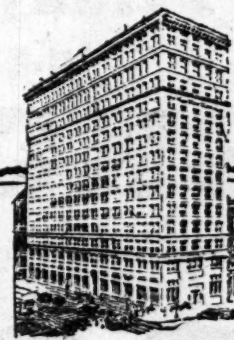

The idea is this: "Father needs the car for business."

In about 999 cases out of a thousand, it isn't so. Father takes the car downtown, thinking he'll use it for business. But when he has a call to make, he figures, "Well—that's not far. It'll be easier to walk it or take a street car than to hunt parking space at the other end, and at this end when I get back."

And so the family motor sits at a curb all day, idle, or in expensive garage space. And the marooned wife is denied the use of the family car for trips where it isn't convenient to use the street car.

Use the street car in going to the office, and be a "two-car family" without extra cost. You'll get there just as quickly (try it for a week both ways and prove it for yourself)—and with less strain and trouble. And the family can use the car during the day for the job it was intended to do. You'll find it a lot more practical—

plus the economy of it

Brilliant Character Actor For Summer Season Here

TRICK PHOTO ILLUSTRATES ART OF MAKE-UP

Here are two men, apparently, but they are both the same man, Felix Krembs, popular character actor, who will appear this summer with the company headed by Helen Mencken at the Erlanger theater. Mr. Krembs is seen "making himself up" for a role he will play in "Romance," the opening offering of the company, April 16.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

The old mathematics sharks at college used to tell bone-headed freshmen that "things equal to the same thing are equal to each other," and the picture accompanying this story bears out the old truism. In the picture are apparently two good-looking men engaged in earnest conversation; but things "ain't" what they seem to be.

The man with the burnside is the same man with the trick mustache who faces him and both are Felix Krembs, popular character actor, who will appear in a series of super-dramatic productions to be offered this summer at the Erlanger theater.

Mr. Krembs is seen in the picture applying the last touch of makeup to his own face. It is a composite picture and a good one and serves to show Mr. Krembs' ability to make himself look like somebody else.

When the able company which will appear at the Erlanger this summer, under the management of Williams and Kohlmar, begins its engagements, Mr. Krembs will play some of the most important roles in the productions. The first play to be offered is "Romance," Edward Sheldon's great comedy, with the charming Helen Mencken in the leading role. Miss Mencken is one of the foremost stars on the stage today and will play leads in several of the latest Broadway hits which will be offered at the Erlanger during the engagement.

Mr. Krembs will come to Atlanta fresh from an engagement in "The Distant Drum" in New York. Among the other plays in which he has appeared recently are "Spread Eagle," "Stolen Fruit," "Friendly Enemies," with Sam Bernard and Louis Mann; "Jiminy's Women," "Gold Pipe," "The Changeling," Henry Miller's all-star production, and "Badgers," with Atlanta's own favorite, Madge Kennedy.

Drive for Perfect Teeth For School Children Here

Atlanta children's teeth will soon be the most nearly perfect of those of any city in America, if their average has not already reached that point as a result of the "Mouth-Health Week" campaign to be waged April 16 to 21 by the schools and the P.T. A.'s, according to heads of the organization.

"A filling in time saves nine—perhaps nine teeth," is one of the slogans suggested by a seventh-grade child in one of the public schools. "The whole campaign is to be directed at educating the boy and girl, and through them the parents, that good teeth are the faithful possession of everybody, and it is easier to save than 'cure' them.

The better teeth campaign waged in the Atlanta schools for years, principally through Superintendent Willis A. Sutton's intense in this work, has attracted attention of school authorities and dental surgeons throughout the country. Mr. Sutton has been asked to deliver more addresses on the subject, in cities of many states, than he could deliver if he had no other work to do.

Mrs. F. Abernethy, health chairman of the Atlanta council, P.T. A., is in charge of the "Mouth-Health Week" work this year, and is being assisted by the health chairman of the associations of the various schools. Their goal has been set for "100 per cent perfect teeth in every class in every school."

The campaign will be marked by lectures and motion pictures on five nights of the week set aside for this work, these to be held in the following churches and schools and open to members of the P.T. A.'s and the general public.

Monday night, 8 o'clock, St. Paul's Methodist church, Grant and Sydney streets. Addresses by Dr. Harry B. Johnston, dentist, and Dr. W. W. Anderson, physician.

Tuesday night, 8 o'clock, Park Street Methodist church, Park and Lee streets. Dr. DeLoas Hill, dentist, and Dr. W. L. Funkhouser, physician.

Wednesday night, 8 o'clock, Moreland Avenue school, Austin street and Euclid avenue. Dr. T. P. Himman, dentist, and Dr. L. H. Muse, physician.

Thursday night, 8 o'clock, Tenth Street school, Tenth street and Piedmont avenue. Dr. J. R. Mitchell, dentist, and Dr. J. Lee Bivings, physician.

Friday night, 8 o'clock, English Avenue school, Bellwood and English avenue. Dr. S. W. Foster, dentist, and Dr. W. Nevin Adkins, physician.

Atlanta dentists and physicians are giving the P.T. A.'s every possible cooperation in the work, providing lecturers and demonstrations.

Every member of the various P.T. A.'s is urged to attend the meeting in the respective neighborhoods, and the school association which has the largest representation in proportion to enrollment will be awarded a cash prize of $10, it is announced by the Atlanta council, P.T. A.

WORST WEATHER OF WEEK DELAYING ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Baldonnel, Irish Free State, April 5.—(AP)—Baron von Huenefeld has a new scheme for taking off from the wooden Baldonnel flying field with the Junkers plane Bremen fully fueled on his trans-Atlantic flight. This is to use a paved roadway between the two hangars.

Fifty Free State soldiers today began turning this open space into a runway, filling the ditch separating the roadway from the field proper with railway sleepers and clearing away the barbed wire entanglements which were built around the hangars in Ireland's troubled times.

There now are four runways ready for the Bremen, any of which may be used depending on the weather. Captain Kowal and von Huenefeld still await favorable Atlantic weather.

Among the Irish it is expected that Colonel Fitzmaurice, head of the Free State air service, will be the third man in the Bremen, although the government authorities continually deny that their air force chief has been granted leave or permission to make the American flight.

The Atlantic weather report, received at Baldonnel today was the worst of the week. It reported a 50-mile gale of snow, sleet and fog.

When Von Huenefeld read it, he threw up his hands and said: "All we can do is to hope from day to day."

EARLY START SEEN ON TWIN VIADUCTS

Actual start of construction within 10 days on the twin viaducts, Pryor street and Central avenue, was seen Thursday by close observers at the city hall following a decision by the bridge committee of council to recommend the start of the viaducts contract to MacDougald Construction company. Ratification of the bridge committee's recommendation of this morning and awarding of the contract by council this afternoon was freely predicted.

A special session of council has been called for 3 o'clock this afternoon to consider the bridge committee's recommendation, and Mayor Hagdale indicated that if council awards the contract, he will give his approval immediately, so that work can be started on the project. Officials of the MacDougald company stated that they are in a position to start the work within 10 days.

It developed Thursday's session of the bridge committee that the MacDougald company was the only firm bidding on the county payment basis which furnished a bank statement covering a proper financing of the project as specified in the call for bids. MacDougald company officers said that they can complete the work easily within the specified 10 months.

The MacDougald bid for the two viaducts and all accompanying construction work is $816,331, the lowest bid on the basis of award that the company will look to Fulton county for $500,000 to be paid in three installments, December of 1928, 1929 and 1930.

The Shelverton Construction company is low bidder with a price of $705,373 on a basis which would make the city responsible for the entire payment.

Award of the contract to MacDougald company was recommended to the bridge committee by William H. Hansell, city chief of construction, who said that a large portion of the city's money will be needed to settle property damage claims. A ruling has been made by James L. Mayson, city attorney, to the effect that the county's money cannot be used until it is actually in hand, and there is grave doubt whether the county funds could be used for settling claims and for other expenses incident to the viaduct construction.

Councilman Harry York moved that the contract be awarded to MacDougald company in accordance with Hansell's recommendation, citing the constant loss being suffered by property holders in the viaduct section as one which will reach a total of at least $500,000 before the project is completed.

Charles B. Shelton, county attorney, explained the legal restrictions surrounding the use of county funds, stating that there is grave doubt whether they can be used for settling damage claims and adjusting property to the new viaducts. Walter B. Stewart, chairman of the county commission, expressed the hope that the construction would go forward on a business-like basis without delay.

COURT ORDER STOPS RENTING OF D. A. R. HOUSE FOR DANCES

The Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., of which Mrs. Irving S. Thomas is recent, was temporarily restrained from renting its chapter house at 270 Tenth street for public dances by a Fulton superior court order, issued on complaint of fifteen persons, appearing in the suit as property owners and residents of the city, charging that the practice is a public nuisance. Judge Virgil H. Moore, who signed the order, set April 14 as the hearing date on the suit.

It was in the petition that the club house is rented several times weekly for public dances which have proved objectionable to the neighbors, who set forth that they were often kept awake until after 1 o'clock in the morning.

The paper was filed by Attorney St. Clair Gibbs.

The Right Way to Relieve Headache

Why shock your system with harsh laxatives and purgatives when it is most likely that your headache comes from a congested condition of the blood which can be corrected by this simple, harmless remedy?

Years ago, Dr. T. M. Stanback discovered that the majority of people want something to relieve headache quickly, without any bad after effects. So he developed this prescription which has been used by so many throughout the South that it has been called "The South's Standard Remedy." Physicians and dentists use it in their practice to relieve all kinds of pain—neuralgia, backache, toothache, and to check colds and "flu."

You'll be simply amazed at the speedy relief you'll get with Stanback Headache Powders. At the very first sign of headache or pain of any kind, go to your druggist. He'll recommend Stanback—and you will, too, after the first trial.

DEFER NEW PEACH RATES FOR STATE

Revision of rates on peaches from Georgia to points in the northeast and northwest, established recently by the interstate commerce commission, effective April 20, were postponed indefinitely Thursday by the commission, according to news received by leading shippers of Georgia who have been actively opposing the new scale of rates.

A rehearing in the case was granted by the commission, the date of which will be announced later.

When the new scale of rates was ordered recently by the commission, it was contended that the new rates would discriminate against Georgia shippers in favor of shippers from North and South Carolina. It was stated also that the railroads were not satisfied with the new scale and would seek a reopening of the cases for the submission of more arguments.

United States Senators William J. Harris and Walter F. George, members of congress from Georgia, various state officials and leading peach growers conducted the fight for a reopening of the case.

Although the new scale of rates was slightly lower than the old rates, restrictions were imposed regarding the weights of peach cartons which really increased the rates rather than lowered them, according to the contentions of the growers. It also was contended that the new scale was discriminatory in favor of growers of other states.

The fight for a revision of peach rates has been in progress for several years and if such revision is granted which will materially reduce these rates, it will have an important effect on peach growing in this state. It is contended by the growers that the present rates preclude the production of peaches in Georgia on a profitable scale.

When the rehearing is announced, peach growers and others interested in the establishment of an equitable scale of rates, will send representatives to Washington to appear before the commission and submit the contentions of the Georgia growers.

The temporary order restraining the public service commission from exercising jurisdiction over motor bus lines of the state, granted on petition of Newport B. Estes and a score of prominent bus operators, was dissolved Thursday afternoon by Judge John D. Humphries, Fulton superior court. A supersedeas order was granted, however, holding the matter in abeyance pending an appeal to the Georgia supreme court.

The bus companies contended they could not be legally brought under supervision of the commission as "common carriers" in that they reserved the right to accept only such passengers and personal luggage as they saw fit. The public service commission asked the right to exercise the authority granted it at the last session of the general assembly.

Attorney T. J. Smith, Jr., of Commerce, represented J. A. Fisher, chairman of the public service commission. Attorney Paul Lindsey was plaintiffs' counsel.

POSTAL RECEIPTS DOWN FOR MONTH, UP FOR QUARTER

Although postoffice receipts for last March experienced a slight decrease from the receipts for the same month of 1927, figures for the first quarter of this year exceed those for the same period last year by nearly $25,000. Postmaster E. K. Large announced Thursday. The receipts for March of 1928 were $408,067.38, or a decrease of $962.56 from the figures of $409,030.34 for March of 1927.

The decrease for March was attributed to the tremendous gain shown by the receipts for March of last year over the same month of 1926, when the increase was 20 per cent. Receipts for the first quarter of 1927 were $1,172,197.19, and for the first quarter of this year $1,195,285.00.

MARCH DROP IS GENERAL
Washington, April 5.—(AP)—A decrease of $260,152.90, or 28 per cent, below March of 1927 is shown in the monthly postal receipts at fifty selected cities throughout the country, announced today by the postoffice department.

The total receipts for March, 1928, were $14,280,383.13. Memphis, Tenn., with an increase of 22.87 per cent, led the fifty cities in the percentage of increase. Akron, Ohio, came next with an increase of 22.65 per cent and Minneapolis, Minn., was third with 14.25 per cent.

Baltimore receipts decreased $26,485.01 below March of last year; Jacksonville $17,141.08; Fort Worth, Texas, $16,048.60; Louisville, Ky., $7,124.68; Atlanta, Ga., $655.96.

Southern cities showing increases were Houston, Texas, $3,076.98; Richmond, Va., $3,064.15; New Orleans $296.23; Nashville, Tenn., $1,805.44; Dallas, Texas, $3,358.00.

Baptist Tabernacle Second in United States In Attendance Contest

The Baptist Tabernacle stood second among the five largest Baptist churches in the United States in the first round of the April nationwide attendance contest, the pastor, Dr. Will H. Houghton, learned Thursday night.

Attendance at the Bible school, morning and evening worship last Sunday was tallied and compared with a report from other large Baptist churches of the Tabernacle type. Tremont Temple, Boston, of which Dr. J. C. Massee is pastor, was first with an aggregate attendance of 5,470 for the three services of the opening day of the contest. The Atlanta church's figure was 5,248.

The report showed attendance at the Tabernacle Bible school larger than that of any other church. Atlanta reported 1,888. The next largest Sunday school was first church, Minneapolis, with 1,694.

YOUNG ENTERTAINERS FOR LEGION LUNCHEON

The Wager brothers, juvenile entertainers, whose ages range from 2 to 9 years, will feature the program of the American Legion which meets at 12:30 o'clock today at the Henry Grady hotel.

Little Miss Virginia Lee Cappeck, another juvenile entertainer, will assist with song and dance numbers. A baseball autographed by every member of the Atlanta Southern league baseball club will be drawn for by those in attendance at the luncheon.

STATE DELEGATES MEET SATURDAY

Plans for the trip of the Georgia delegation to the national democratic convention to be held at Houston, Texas, June 27, will be formed at a meeting of the delegates to be held at the Biltmore hotel at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The delegates will elect various officers to serve during the convention and also will elect a national democratic committee and national democratic committee chairman.

The program as prepared by the committee of arrangements, headed by former Governor Clifford Walker, was announced Thursday. Chairman G. E. Maddox, of Rome, will call the committee to order at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The order of business calls for the election of the following officers: National democratic committee chairman, a permanent secretary, permanent assistant secretary, honorary vice president of the national convention, honorary secretary of the national convention. Georgia's representatives on various important standing committees of the convention also will be named Saturday.

The committee will complete plans for transportation to Houston, for hotel accommodations and other routine matters in connection with the trip to the convention.

Plans for furthering the candidacy of United States Senator Walter F. George for the democratic presidential nomination will be formed. Resolutions containing the phrase "George for President" will be printed and distributed. Senator George will have the unanimous support of the Georgia delegation for the nomination.

After the meeting the delegates will be entertained at a luncheon at the Biltmore hotel with former Governor Walker presiding. Brief speeches will be made by leading members of the delegation.

United States Senator William J. Harris and Congressman Charles H. Crisp will attend the meeting. It is expected that Senator George also will attend if he can arrange his business affairs so that he can be present.

NEGRO GETS 12 YEARS FOR HOLDUP SHOOTING

Convicted by a jury Thursday afternoon of attempting to murder Dr. Virgil Cook during the holdup of a Jackson street pharmacy last January, John Worthen, negro, was sentenced to from 12 to 19 years by Judge E. E. Fomery in Fulton superior court.

The prisoner was found guilty on charges of robbery and assault with intent to murder. Both Dr. Cook and Dr. J. H. Jackson, proprietor of the pharmacy, declared they could identify Worthen as the negro who wounded Dr. Cook in a gun battle which followed the appearance in the store of a pair of bandits.

Dr. Cook, who was in the rear of the building when the negroes raided the cash register, opened fire on the intruders. Worthen is alleged to have returned the fire, wounding Dr. Cook as the former covered the retreat of his companion, who is still a fugitive.

A fountain pen and spectacle case in Dr. Cook's pocket prevented more serious injury from the heavy-caliber bullet, according to testimony.

Additional robbery charges are pending in superior court against Worthen, and he will be brought to trial on these counts, the solicitor-general said.

G. E. Fielding, Worthen's attorney, gave notice he will appeal for a new trial on passage of the two sentences.

WEST END CHURCH
REVIVAL SERVICES
GROW IN INTEREST

Probabilities of continuing the revival services at the West End Avenue Church of Christ loomed high Thursday night with the growing enthusiasm and widespread interest being manifested in the meetings. Definite announcement as to whether they will continue through next week will be made at services tonight.

A packed house Thursday night intently listened to Pastor H. C. Hale's eloquent discussion on the subject of "How to Study the Bible." After summing up the books of the Old Testament and the four first books of the Gospel the preacher dramatically asked the question, "Have you learned in them what to do to be saved?" He then referred them to the book of the Acts of the Apostles, which he referred to as the "Book of Conversions," saying "throughout this book you will find the answer to the most important question in the whole world—'What to do to be saved?'"

The song services in connection with the meetings, under direction of E. Benson Casey, has proved an unusual attraction that has featured the campaign. Many new members have been added to the congregation during the meeting.

SHOT MAY BE FATAL TO MURDER SUSPECT

Wanted by police as a murder suspect, Tim Benton, negro, of 257 Taylor street, was shot, probably fatally, Thursday morning in hand-to-hand struggle with Detective C. N. Ellis, in an alley near Fort and Fair streets according to police reports.

Detective Ellis reported that Benton had been pointed out to him as a murder suspect, and when he chased the negro into the alley, that the man stumbled and fell. In the scuffle which followed, the negro attempted to grab the officer's gun, but the detective frustrated the attempt by drawing the weapon himself and firing, it was said.

Lieutenant Colonel Rex B. Rhodes, dental corps, is to be relieved of duty at that station. He also reports to General Richmond P. Davis for assignment to duty with the medical department of the fourth corps and Colonel Rhodes is at present on duty at the United States general dispensary, in Washington, D. C.

Captain Adrian S. John, chemical warfare service, is ordered to Fort Benning, Ga., assigned to company C, first regiment and for additional duty as an instructor in the infantry school. Captain S. John is present at a brigade at the Fort Benning, Kan., command and general staff school and will pursue a 30-day course at the chemical warfare school, Edgewood arsenal, Edgewood, Md., before reporting at Fort Benning, Ga.

Sergeant John L. Pith, Corporal Andrew Johnson and M. S. Sims and Private Alfred J. Goodman, all of the eighth infantry at Fort Montrie, S. C., have been ordered, without delay, to Fort Benning, Ga., for rifle training. Together with men from all sections of the United States they are to compete for positions on the rifle teams to represent the regular army at the next Camp Perry, Ohio, matches.

MRS. CHARLES OUTLAW

The automobile was damaged only slightly. Mrs. Outlaw said she pulled her car to one side to avoid another car which forced her over the steep incline.

AGED MAN ARRESTED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Jack Williams, 64, of College Park, is being held in the Fulton county jail in default of $1,000 bond, charged with attacking a 10-year-old girl, a resident of College Park. Williams is said to have confessed the crime before Police Chief R. W. Moore, of College Park, and several others.

Williams was arrested Tuesday by T. W. Warr and A. C. Spiegel, special deputies, on the road to Macon just outside of Jonesboro. Warr and Spiegel were then on a return trip from Macon where they had been in search of Williams.

The assault, with which Williams is charged, is said to have taken place Saturday afternoon at his home.

COTTON MEN PLAY GOLF AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., April 5.—(P)—A business session, a golf match and a banquet tonight constituted the first day's activities for the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Georgia, which convened here in annual session this morning.

Nearly 100 cotton manufacturers from throughout the state were in attendance when the business session was called to order and heard the annual reports of the officers, of which that of the president, W. H. Hightower, of Thomaston, was the highlight.

During the afternoon business was suspended while the manufacturers indulged in a golf tournament staged on the Forrest Hills Ricker course.

Dr. D. W. Daniel, of Clemson College, South Carolina, was the speaker for the banquet tonight.

Among speakers on tomorrow's program is Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, whose subject will be "Combating Propaganda With Truth." Other speakers for tomorrow include Dr. E. B. Youngblood, director of U. S. agricultural research, Washington and Dr. John R. Fain, Georgia State College of Agriculture. Annual election of officers will be held tomorrow.

Southern Field Says
Price Changes Not Due
To Freight Rate Levee

Fluctuations in commodity prices are not affected by freight rates, it is stated in an article published in the latest issue of the Southern Field, issued by the development service of the Southern railway system. One of these articles, dealing with cotton prices during the period from 1922 to 1927, during which freight rates were substantially stationary, shows that prices have fluctuated inversely with the world supply of cotton.

It is pointed out that, with fair consideration of its value and the unusual expense of handling, cotton is handled more cheaply than any other agricultural crop; that the largest cotton carrier in the world obtains an average of only 27¢ per pound for an average haul of 270 miles and that freight rates do not affect or control the price of cotton received by the farmer.

Miss Walsh To Talk

Rich officials report that keen interest has been shown by Atlanta women in the helpful talks of Miss Walsh.

CHATTOOGA PRIMARY POLLS RECORD VOTE

Summerville, Ga., April 5.—(Special).—Wednesday's primary in Chattooga county brought out the largest vote ever polled. The final count was not made until after midnight and in one rose the official consolidation figures were necessary to determine the winner, it appearing that F. M. Fisher had been nominated tax receiver by 12 votes and the official figures giving the office to Dempo Dalton by one vote. Sixteen candidates sought this office.

The winners in other races were: E. King, ordinary; J. B. Lewis, clerk of court; Miss Maude Sewell, county school superintendent; Frank Thompson, sheriff; Wiley Wright, treasurer; T. A. Dennis, coroner; Arthur Justice, W. Hammond, R. L. Holland, county commissioners. B. M. Drake was nominated surveyor.

TRUSTEES OF WOMEN'S COLLEGE MEET TODAY

Trustees of the Georgia State college for Women, Milledgeville, will meet in that city this morning to dispose of various matters touching the school and possibly take action toward selecting a permanent president for the institution. Judge Richard B. Russell, president of the board, announced here Thursday.

Dr. J. L. Beeson, for years a member of the G. S. C. W. faculty, has been serving as acting president since the death last year of Dr. Marvin Parks, veteran head of the school.

The principal purpose of today's meeting, Judge Russell said, is to inspect progress being made on the new $125,000 dormitory now under construction on the campus. Designed to house 300 students and make room for some of the additional young women who annually clamor for entrance to the college. An average of between 700 and 800 applicants have been turned down annually in the last several years, Judge Russell said.

Federal employees will have the correct time all day if the custodian's office has anything to say about it. Bids for the repair of postoffice building clocks have been called for by J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue and custodian of the building, and will be received up to noon of April 22.

The successful bidder will be required to replace broken and worn parts in the Seth Thomas clocks, and must furnish a guarantee for proper operation during the year following the repairs.

WHAT HAS TOOTH
PASTE TO DO WITH STOCKINGS?

Quite a Little

You can, for instance, get an extra pair or two with that $3.00 you save by using Listerine Tooth Paste. Its cost (25¢ a large tube) is about half of that of the ordinary dentifrice. And millions, both men and women, having proved that it cleans teeth whiter, are glad to take advantage of this economy.

GLISTENING, TARTAR-FREE TEETH

With a Minimum of Brushing

THERE are many excellent dentifrices on the market selling at a trifle above or below 50¢—but is it necessary to pay that much? Why not a first class dentifrice at 25¢—scientifically correct for all types of teeth?

Believing this to be a sound price, we created Listerine Tooth Paste at 25¢ for a large tube. It is the result of more than fifty years' study of tooth and mouth troubles.

Now it is sweeping the country. Everywhere it is supplanting older and costlier dentifrices that accomplish no more. Due to the presence of an amazing new and gentle polishing agent, it keeps teeth gleaming white with almost no brushing. Included in it are certain ingredients we have found most ideal in keeping the mouth and gums fresh and healthy.

Try Listerine Tooth Paste for a month. See how good your mouth feels after using it. Compare it with any paste you have ever used and judge it by results alone. And then reflect that these results are costing you about half of what you would ordinarily pay. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

ELEPHANT PUZZLE RESULTS NEXT WEEK

Entrants in The Constitution's triplet elephant contest, which closed last Thursday at midnight, are advised by the management to be on the lookout about the middle of next week for announcement of results in the game. Judges now are checking the answers, and it is expected that the winners will be selected in six or seven days.

GAS TAX COLLECTION FROM COUNTY STAYED

William A. Wright, state comptroller general, was temporarily restrained from collecting the 2-cent gasoline tax on Fulton county's gasoline purchases in an order signed in superior court Thursday afternoon by Judge John D. Humphries. Hearing on the petition, brought by the county attorney on instructions from the Fulton commission, was set for April 14.

The county contends that the proposed state levy is unconstitutional in that the Georgia code, which specifically limits expenditures of county tax monies, makes no provision for the payment of state taxes by one of its political subdivisions.

Comptroller Wright was enjoined from issuing execution in an attempt to levy the tax, which the petition says he has threatened. In making his exemption of gasoline purchased for public use, the revised tax laws passed by the last legislature were styled as contrary to the constitution of the United States, and therefore null and void.

Bishop W. P. Thirkield
Honored on Retirement
From Active Ministry

Bishop and Mrs. Wilbur P. Thirkield, of Chattanooga, were today guests at a testimonial mass meeting given in the chapel of Bennett college, in Greensboro, N. C., Wednesday night, at the conclusion of the program, a handsome silver loving cup was presented to the visitors by Rev. R. W. Winchester, of Laurinburg, North Carolina.

Among the speakers were Dr. Mordcaid Johnson, president of Howard seminary, Atlanta; Bishop Robert E. Jones, of New Orleans; Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, of Sydney, Ohio; Rev. H. L. Ashe, of High Point, N. C.; and R. B. Eleazer, educational director of the interdenominational commission of Atlanta.

Bishop Thirkield was one of the first ministers connected with the Gammon Theological seminary, which was established in Atlanta in 1883 for training colored preachers.

More than two score of appreciative messages from distinguished national leaders were received by the bishop, including an autographed letter from President Calvin Coolidge, congratulating Bishop Thirkield for his good work during the past 45 years. The bishop is retiring from the active ministry.

N. Y. POLICE SEEK $250,000 NECKLACE

New York, April 5.—(P)—A $250,000 pearl necklace, lost in the mails between Paris and London, was being sought in New York today. Advertisements in this morning's papers offered $50,000 reward for information leading to its recovery.

Destined for an American woman whose name was not revealed, the strand of 57 perfectly matched rose-cream gems were mailed on February 23 by a clerk in the Paris office of Cartier, Inc., jewelers, to the firm's London branch. It never was delivered.

Paris police and operatives from Scotland Yard traced the package to Dieppe, France, but there the trail was lost. There was no tangible evidence of theft, but police feared that a band of clever jewel thieves might have intercepted the packet with the intention of bringing the gems to America.

Police Inspector Coughlin, who was asked by the Paris prefect of police to make a search here for the necklace, said he believed that if it were brought to this country the string would be broken up and the pearls offered for sale singly.

The necklace was assembled after many months of searching for perfectly graduated pearls, the weight of which ranged from 7 to 36.72 grams. Its clasp was set with three diamonds. A complete description of the string and each separate pearl has been given by the Paris police to every large city in this country and Europe.

JUGGERNAUT

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS

Roger Rowe, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera, is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius, Roger treats herself to tea at the fashionable Restaurant des Ambassadeurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Roger finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius and Roger learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Sartorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Sir Charles. Roger is taken on the case as day nurse.

Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, arrives in Cannes. Sir Charles tells his son that he has changed his will, to the extent of making him executor and trustee of the whole estate. Roger is attracted to Esther and invites her to dine and dance with him. They go to one of the fashionable restaurants in Cannes.

On returning to the house Roger comes upon his stepmother in the darkened drawing room with Arthur Holiday, who has been paying Lady Clifford some attention. Roger orders Holiday to leave the house.

The next day Sir Charles breaks the news to his wife that he has named his son executor of his estate in his will. Lady Clifford flies into a rage.

Shortly afterward Roger, on account of a headache, and his aunt, Miss Clifford, offers him one of her remedies. In trying to open the bottle Roger breaks it and cuts his hand. Esther is called in to bind up the cut and in haste she mislays the doctor's hypodermic needle, which he has just used on Sir Charles. The doctor is unwarrantably angry with her over the carelessness. Two days later Sir Charles dies. Esther finds the needle, but instead of returning it to the doctor she has it analyzed. Lady Clifford dismisses her, but before she leaves she gets the report from the chemist that the hypodermic needle contained typhoid germs. As she is about to warn Roger she is attacked and taken from the house unrescued. She awakens some time later in Dr. Sartorius' laboratory. Sartorius leaves Holiday to guard her while he returns to the Villa Firenze with retinue and goes to inject into Roger's sore hand. Esther manages to escape from the house through the skylight.

INSTALLMENT LIX.

THE POLICE ARRIVE.

Sartorius turned slightly away, without replying. Dr. Bonquet shrugged his shoulders, and, removing his spectacles, wiped them carefully on a purple silk handkerchief.

"It would be unusual, monsieur, certainly, but not impossible. There is no accounting for the vagaries of these victims. Whatever the case, she is under the influence of morphia now. It appears to be morphia," he added, cautiously.

"Then if she is," declared Roger, losing all control, "that man over there is responsible for it. He gave her the last of those injections not a quarter of an hour ago."

"Roger! My dear! Do you know what you are saying?" Miss Clifford whispered in pained remonstrance.

Chagrined that he had committed himself to incriminate Roger, Sartorius stared down at Esther, biting his lip. Plainly this was not the time for straightforward speech. Besides, he caught a glance of sympathy, mingled with scorn for himself, exchanged between the two physicians.

"Never mind how she got any of the injections," he amended hastily, addressing Bonquet in a low voice. "All that concerns us now is how to save her. It was unwise of me to speak as I did."

"Well, Mr. Clifford," he said at last, "the best thing we can do at the moment is to get this young person undressed and into a bed. I can then ascertain if there are other hypodermic needle marks on her, and perhaps come to one or two other decisions about which I am doubtful. Can this be arranged?"

"Certainly. I will give orders at once to have a room got ready for her."

He found Chalmers in the hall, on his way downstairs.

"Let me hear, Chalmers, exactly what Miss Rowe said to you when you let her in. What did you think of her—how did she strike you?"

"You saw for yourself what she looked like, sir," replied the old man quietly, yet with an undercurrent of excitement that was not lost on Roger.

"I almost took her for a ghost. She fell into the hall when I opened the door, hardly able to stand, she was sir. I put out my hand to steady her."

"Lord, miss, I said, 'where have you come from?' I said, 'She gave me a sort of wild look, sir, then she says, half choking like, 'Chalmers, where's Mr. Roger? Has the doctor bandaged his hand yet?'"

"Did she ask you that straight off?" demanded Roger, frowning in deep thought.

"Yes, sir, she did. I believed, as you did, that she was quite off her head. I told her you were in this room with Miss Clifford and that I thought the doctor was with you, though I wasn't sure. She went as white as a sheet, sir. I was afraid she was going to drop down, but she didn't. She took another sort of spurt, as you say, and was up those steps as fast as she left me behind. I heard her say, 'He's trying to kill him! He's going to give him lock-jaw, and everybody'll believe it's an accident.'"

"Lock-jaw!"

"Yes, sir. I was as astonished as you. It seemed as though she must be raving, but then when she said—"

He was interrupted by a sudden peal at the door bell, loud and long, supplemented by violent blows of the brass knocker. Both men jumped at the sound, then exchanged glances of puzzled apprehension. Who at this particular moment was in such a hurry to enter?

"Beg pardon, sir, I'd better see who that is, I expect."

Revolving in his mind the astounding information he had just received, Roger reentered the sitting room.

The following instant Chalmers threw open the door, his face a study.

"The police, sir?" he announced.

In blank astonishment Roger stared at three men in uniform filed into the room and stood at attention. Two wore the regulation dress of sergeants-deville, the third was clearly of superior rank. He was an aggressive, young fellow, with a sharp, snail-like face and a black bristly mustache.

"I take it that you are Monsieur Clifford?" he inquired accusingly, keeping his smoldering black eyes fixed on Roger's face, while with his right hand he brought a notebook out of his pocket.

"Certainly, my name is Clifford, but perhaps you will be good enough to inform me why you—"

"That can wait. You are English, monsieur?"

"Naturally. And I refuse to answer another question until you tell me how in thunder you come to be here," replied Roger, rapidly losing his temper.

The question had an unexpected reply.

"C'est moi, messieurs, qui viens de votre téléphone. Moi je suis Lady Clifford."

The voice, metallic and defiant, rang out from the door leading into the right hand bedroom. The officer stared in surprise, while Roger wheeled with a brusque movement of incredulity to behold Esther facing them.

"You telephone then?" he repeated, hardly able to believe his ears.

"Certainly. I simply reported the fact to police headquarters that I am being kept a prisoner in my bedroom."

"But, madame, permit me to suggest that you do not appear to be a prisoner."

"I will explain, monsieur. He did not lock that door there; it was not necessary, since he has never left the room. He has, in fact, been on guard here. But the outer door, leading to the hall, is fastened, as you will see if you care to look."

At a sign from the superior officer one of the sergeants-deville stepped into the hall and quickly returned to confirm Lady Clifford's statement.

The chief representative of the police then drew a long breathing spoke to Roger in a threatening voice.

"Monsieur, you have heard madame's statement to the effect that you, guest in her house, forced her to remain in her bedroom by locking the door and removing the key. Do you deny this?"

"It is true as far as it goes," Roger replied coldly. "If you wish to know the whole of the matter I must refer you to madame."

"How can you say such a thing, Roger?" she inquired, with an air of frankness and mild reproach. "I know only too well that in your heart you have always disliked me, have always been jealous of any little influence I may have had with your father, but how can you stand there and suggest that I can tell this gentleman why you behaved as you did when I don't know the reason?"

The stroke told; moreover, the absolute candor with its hint of lurking tears enhanced the strong appeal which her beauty had already exerted over the three limbs of the law. Not wishing to disclose anything more than was necessary, Roger remained stonily silent, letting the officers think what they pleased. He felt the triumph in Therese's voice when she spoke again.

"You see, monsieur, Mr. Clifford does not care to reply. I leave you to draw your own conclusions. For me it is quite evident that he is unwilling to reveal his reasons for subjecting me to this treatment."

Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft To Honor Prominent Opera Visitors

Among the prominent visitors who will add interest and gaiety to the series of brilliant events composing the social program of the grand opera season will be Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Harvey, of Kingston, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. George Lanier, of West Point, Ga., who will be the guests for opera of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ashcraft at their home in Druid Hills.

A number of lovely social compliments will honor this foursome of attractive visitors and they will be seen in the Ashcraft box at the presentation of the operas each evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft and their daughter, Mrs. Claude McGinnis, Jr., who formerly was Miss Rebecca Ashcraft, met Mr. and Mrs. Harvey during a recent European trip, the party making a motor tour through Germany together.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanier have often visited in the city and they will be cordially welcomed by a host of friends during their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft will entertain a party of friends in compliance to their guests at the opera carnival ball, sponsored by the Music Festival association, at the Piedmont Driving Club Wednesday evening during opera week. They will also attend the barbecue to be given the same day at the Druid Hills Golf club in honor of the directors, officials and artists of the Metropolitan company and the directors of the Atlanta Music Festival association.

A number of other affairs, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft's guests, have been planned, the dates to be announced later.

Mrs. Carroll Gives Series of Recitals.

Mrs. Arnold Carroll, whose lecture recitals on music are much admired, is giving a recital of piano music before the Woman's club of Thomasville Friday afternoon. Her program is largely confined to the American and modern schools and she will give a brief introductory talk on the subject.

The same program will be given before the Music Study club of Americus the first of next week. While in Thomasville, Mrs. Carroll will be the guest of Miss Irene Davis. She will return to Atlanta Wednesday.

Covenant Church Choir Cantata.

On next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the choir of the Covenant Presbyterian church will sing an Easter cantata, "Redemption's Song." The friends of the choir and church are invited. The choir includes Mrs. F. W. Truluck, Mrs. S. K. Bell, Mrs. R. B. Acuff, Mrs. W. A. Whitman, Mrs. Ermine Prewitt, Mrs. Orrin Dimmick, Miss Lula Clark King, Miss Nellie Johnson, Miss Louis Miller, Miss Mary Louise Parham, Mrs. R. H. King, S. R. Calloway, Yeager Hayes, Mr. Naele, Paul Eisenhart, Mr. Wesley and Paul Bell. The organist and director is Mrs. W. A. De Lamar.

FISH NOT IN THIS WRAPPER
IS NOT 40-FATHOM FISH

Nothing is so unwise as buying second-grade fillets. Ask your butcher, grocer or fish dealer for 40-Fathom Fish, which is never frozen or preserved but always fresh and sweet—the cream of the catch.

40-Fathom Fish is the broadest and sides (called fillets) of choice ocean haddock. Fresh from the sea to your table by fast express in ice. No heads, tails, scales, backbones or waste. All savory, snowy meat, cleaned and wrapped in clean parchment paper. A meal in each wrapper.

40-Fathom Fish is always ready to cook. A new, delicious shore delicacy on your table, any day in the year.

Theodore Sparvas, Maitre d'Hotel of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, New York, and Louis Dietz, Chef de Cuisine of that famous hotel, have prepared a valuable book.

It explains the fine art of cooking fish so it will be tender, and tells how they prepare and serve 40-Fathom Fish to the guests at the Ritz-Carlton. Send for your free copy today.

Insist on the above trademarked wrapper. Fish not in the above wrapper is not 40-Fathom Fish.—Bay State Fishing Co., 30 Fish Pier, Boston.

Easter Shopping Discloses Variety of Accessories Key to Modern Exclusiveness Boom in Accessory Demand

Even so fickle a jade as Feminine Fashion must conform to the restrictions of industrial economy—but woman's ingenuity invariably finds a way to distinguish.

Herbert Everett, director of sales for the Chamberlain-Johnson-DuBois company and an astute merchandising expert, Thursday told a Constitution representative how mass production for a time threatened so-called exclusive styles, only to be beaten at its own game by the resourcefulness of women bent on smartness in dress.

"The present season of Easter shopping," Mr. Everett said, "has brought into clear outline an illustration of this very kind. It has developed an unprecedented demand for accessories—accessories that are finely-made, artistic things."

"Not so many years ago the smart woman wouldn't wear a dress if her friend had a similar garment. Each woman wanted an exclusive model or pattern. Then the era of mass production dawned, and exclusiveness seemed about to be shoved overboard. Great quantities of dresses of the same material and color and fabric were turned out—what were women to do to achieve individuality?

"The answer is simple. They turned to accessories. Gloves, underwear, hosiery, shoes, scarfs, hats, bags, neckties and costume jewelry witnessed a phenomenal increase in demand. Why? Women were using them to make the same dress look different when worn with different accessories."

"The big Paris dressmakers saw the trend and got in line. Today they are designing shoes, underwear, every accessory—even costume perfume. It's a fact that women have grown to use different accents with different costumes."

"This Easter the accessory business has been an important one, and it's still growing. The story of its development and the influences that made it a giant is a most interesting one."

Miss Elder will be assisted in receiving the guests by her mother, Mrs. Sterling J. Elder, and Mrs. William J. Weller, of New York.

The guests will include the group of attendants who will act as bridesmaids in Miss Shedden's wedding. Covers will be placed for Miss Shedden, Mrs. Robert L. Foreman, Jr., Miss Louise Nelson, Mrs. Claude McGinnis, Jr., Mrs. Ernest S. Arkwright, Jr., Misses Ellen Newell, Corday Rice, Ida Sadler, Ethel Hunter, Edyth Coleman and Margaret Elder.

Constitution's Patterns

A POPULAR TWO-PIECE MODEL. 6111. Tweed, crepe, jersey, as well as taffeta or linen could be used for this model.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. An 18-year size will require 7-8 yard of 32-inch lining for the underbody, and 2-7 yards of 54-inch material for the skirt and blouse. To face collar and plastron with contrasting material will require 5-8 yard 32 inches wide.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

A Dainty Frock for a Tiny Tot. 6121. Dimity, challie, crepe de chine or chiffon will develop this pretty model very effectively. The dress may be made with or without the sleeves.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 1, 2, 3 and 4 years. A 3-year size will require 2 yards of 32-inch material, if made with sleeves. If made without sleeves 1-5 yards will be required. To finish neck and armeye edges as illustrated in the large view, will require 1-3 yards of bias binding.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer 1928 book of fashions.

In ordering patterns write name and address plainly on a sheet of paper. Order by number and include price in silver or stamps. Do not mail letter to The Constitution building in Atlanta, but address as follows: Fashion Department, The Constitution, 11-13 Sterling place, Brooklyn, New York.

PLANE SQUADRON
WILL MAKE FLIGHT
TO ALL U. S. FIELDS

Washington, April 5.—(AP)—Annual maneuvers of the army aircraft this summer will include a flight of a large number of planes, which present plans contemplate, will start from Langley field, Vermont, May 1, under command of Brigadier General Benjamin D. Foulois, assistant chief of the air corps.

The planes have not yet been completed, war department officials said today, but it is expected the group will visit the important army flying fields through the south and thence westward to Fort Hiler, Kan., returning by a northern route to Langley field.

NEW SHIP BILL ALTERS
VOTING ON U. S. SALES

Washington, April 5.—(United News.)—The house merchant marine subcommittee has agreed upon a merchant marine bill which would permit the shipping board to sell ships upon the approval of five out of seven members.

The bill, passed recently by the senate, required a unanimous vote and is opposed by President Coolidge because he feels it would prevent the government getting out of the shipping business.

FALL'S CALIFORNIA
TRIP POSTPONED

El Paso, Texas, April 5.—(AP)—Albert B. Fall's trip to California was deferred again today to permit the former secretary of the interior an additional day's rest.

Members of the family said Fall had not completely recovered from an apparent relapse suffered after giving his deposition for the trial in Washington of Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate.

RADIO TELEPHONE SERVICE TO PLANES PLAN FOR FUTURE

New York, April 5.—(AP)—Perfection of apparatus for communication from the home or office to the air liners of the future is the next objective of engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

They ultimately hope to extend regular telephone service into the skies so that a person using an ordinary phone in office or home can speak to a person flying in a plane.

Experimental equipment has been gathered together at Whippany, N. J., and a new Fairchild cabin monoplane has been purchased for use in the tests. The plane is to be converted into a flying laboratory with many of the newest devices of the radio and telephone sciences. The present tests are a continuation of efforts first made in 1918.

J. C. Hunsicker, former officer in the naval air service, and first head of the aeronautical school of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has been placed in charge of the experiments.

Georgia Nine Trims Maryland by 9 to 1

Bulldogs Win Fifth Straight College Game of 1928 Season—Rothstein, Jacobson Knock Homers.

BY JIM HOLLINGSWORTH.

Atlanta, Ga., April 5.—The University of Georgia Bulldogs won their fifth straight game here today when they beat the University of Maryland team, 9-1, in the first of a two-game series. "Lefty" Stewart, Bulldog twirler, held the visitors to four scattered hits, two of which they bunched in the seventh to score their only run of the game.

The locals hit the Maryland moundman, Batson, for 11 bingles, which, together with nine errors committed by the visitors, enabled them to send nine men across the plate. Benny Rothstein, first sacker, got his first collegiate home run when he socked the sphere to deep center field in the seventh frame. Roy Jacobson, Georgia left fielder, also took a trip around the bases in the last of the fourth when he got a beautiful hit far out in left field.

The Georgia started the scoring in the second inning when, with Nash out on strikes and Rothstein on a pop fly, Jacobson laid the ball in left field for a single to come home when Keating reached first on a wild throw to first by the Maryland shortstop. Rush Freeman got his second hit of the season in the next inning, stole second, and came home on three-base clutch by Captain Shiver. "Chick" was left stranded on base, however, as Nash popped out to center field to lose the inning. In the fourth stanza Jacobson got his circuit clout to make the score 3-0 in favor of the locals. Still another was added by the Athenians in the fifth when Chaf-fin reached first on an error, stole second, and was brought home on a single by H. F. Johnson. Additional errors by the Marylanders in the sixth paved the way for two more Georgia runs. Jacobson reached first on the second basemen's error, was the third Bulldog of the day to steal second, and was brought home by the Bulldog's second and three-base hit of the game; Pat Keating, catcher, was the batter. Keating was brought home on a single by Chaffin.

The visitors came forth when Leschensky, right fielder, hit Stewart's offering for three bases, and came home on a single by Kessler, center fielder. This was the end of Maryland's rally, as they were retired in order by Stewart, assisted by the perfect work of the infield.

Georgia scored her final two runs in the seventh when with Johnson and Shiver out Nash got a two-base hit to be brought in when Rothstein got his homer.

Georgia plays Maryland again here tomorrow before they leave for Macon on Saturday to play a return game against Mercer.

KEECH MAKES SPEED MARK TEST TODAY

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 5.—(AP) J. M. White, of Philadelphia, owner of the giant triplex racing car which he hopes will bring back to America the world's speed record, announced tonight that Ray Kech, his driver, would make an attempt at the record tomorrow, provided American Automobile association officials sanction the project and if beach conditions warrant.

Arthur Means, secretary of the contest board of the A. A. A., arrived here tonight from Washington and said he would inspect the race tomorrow to see if it meets with all the requirements of the association. He will either give his approval or reject official approval for the race after the inspection, he said.

A new reverse gear has been installed in the great car since it was here last month, and which would have prohibited official timing by the A. A. A.

White announced tonight that the beach, which has been in unfavorable condition for a week, appeared favorable tonight.

Cowboy Kid Defends Title Monday Night

Cowboy Kid, colored featherweight champion of the south, will engage in his first fight since winning the championship when he meets Richard Moore, of Houston, Texas, at the colored Elks rest Monday night.

The two have met twice before with Cowboy Kid winning a decision and the other was a draw.

The semi-windup will feature Gene Thomas and Black Panther. These two fighters have both been in action in Atlanta several times and they are prime favorites.

HE'S TOUGH

Don't be afraid. He doesn't bite. That's Tommy Billiards up there and he fights Stiles Attaway in the main event of tonight's fistic show at the auditorium. Billiards is a ringman of many years' experience and is tough. He should make a good fight of it with Attaway.

The SPORTLIGHT

(Copyright, 1928, New York Tribune, Inc.; Trademark Registered, U. S. Patent Office.)

APRIL PILGRIMAGE.

From out of the south the crows now come flying like zigzagging dots shooting up from the blue; Unmistakable sign that the north wind is dying; That spring play is now on its way, overdue.

From dawn until dusk their fierce trumpets cawing weird music that shatters the cool, drenching air; Riding up from the south to a world that is thawing; And waiting to dole winter's coat of despair.

WAYFARER.

This Matter Again of Brain and Brawn.

Too many sideline observers or active competitors, in attempting to figure the relation of brain and brawn in sport, make the mistake of estimating brain qualities from the angle of intelligence, or some higher order of brain quality.

They forget that one might have a low order of brain for most of the uses of civilization and still have a useful brain type for certain forms of competitive sport.

The fact that a man is called a "smart ball player" or a "brainy fighter" doesn't mean that he is smart in any other line or that he is brainy in any other field. He might even be as dumb as a cord of wood in other lines.

The smartest or most intelligent student in his class might be a dumb football player. And the smartest football player might have a terrific time passing an English exam.

Quick reflexes are often confused with brain power—the ability to see a curve ball breaking about him by instinct, the ability to see an opening and punch without delay.

I once asked a ball player, considered one of the smartest infielders of his time, what he thought about while a game was under way. "Nothing," he said. "I pick up the ball and throw it where it ought to go. If I didn't know where it ought to go I ought to be back in a minor league."

The Brain Type in Sport.

One of the most useful brain types in sport may be a limited brain type that is more easily concentrated on the job ahead.

Too much imagination has wrecked many a budding star who seemed to have everything. A Dostoevsky, a Swinburne, a Dante, a Plato, a Newton or a Shakespeare might have a complete brain type in any form of competition, and yet have a thousand times more actual brains than any star on any field.

There have been smart intellectual types at the top of sport, but not so many. And they have worked under a handicap.

The most useful brain type in sport is one that is limited to the point of easier and simpler concentration, where one can think with the game in progress, and not beyond it. The brain that can concentrate strictly on the work to be done and that is accompanied by quick reflexes or natural instinct is the winning one. Anything beyond that is often wasted.

The point is that the athletic brain and the intellectual brain are two entirely different animals, no more alike than a cat and a canary.

In the same way mental rhythm and physical rhythm have no connecting link. If they happen to fall together it is an accident.

Two examples of the one-track brain in sport belonged to Dempsey and Harry Greh. They thought only in terms of attack, of tearing in to hit with either hand. Neither wasted any time on finesse or careful planning. Their actions were direct, because they concentrated on just one section of their game. And as long as their foot speed lasted they were both marvels.

Sporting Aids.

What are the most useful assets in competitive sport? One is natural speed and strength. Another is unbroken determination. Still another is the ability to concentrate on the main work at hand. And on the way up one of the rarest of all virtues is unlimited patience, probably the most effective quality in Tunney's collection.

Bobby Jones had an excellent suggestion when he advised bringing the

BILLMEHLHORN WINS TOURNEY AT RICHMOND

Richmond, Va., April 5.—(AP) Shooting two under par for the final 36 holes of play in the Richmond open golf tournament here today, Wild Bill Mehlhorn, of Pittsburgh, had a brilliant 140 and led his nearest rival, Joe Kirkwood, of Albany, Ga., by four strokes with a total of 283.

The winner's prize was $1,000 and Kirkwood's $700, the remainder of the field dividing $1,500.

Elmer French, of Southern Pines, N. C., and Al Espinosa, Chicago star, finished with 285 in third place.

Both started on Tuesday with high scores but finished this afternoon's round with 70s.

Johnny Farrell, of Quaker, N. Y., and Bobby Cruikshank, of Purchase, N. Y., each of whom was expected to be right at the top, finished out of the money. Farrell in a tie for seventh place and "Wee Bobby" eleventh.

Cruikshank played through the day suffering from rheumatism and had a dismal 81 for one of his rounds today. Johnny's 78 on the first day kept him from the top.

Playing before a gallery of nearly a thousand persons, Mehlhorn shot an amazing 69 this afternoon. Going out he took a 37, but came in with a 32, four holes in par. On the first two holes he took five for two over, took a birdie three on the third, one over on the fourth a birdie on the sixth and one over on the eighth.

After the turn he settled down and was over on only one hole. He took a birdie and an eagle three on the fourteenth gave him his 32.

S. M. Newton, former amateur champion of Virginia, a member of Swayney, N. Y., led the amateurs with 304.

The cards of the leaders this afternoon:

Par: Out 445 344 344-35
In 443 454 254-36-71
Mehlhorn: Out 354 443 354-37
In 442 335 344-32-69
Kirkwood: Out 544 343 254-34

Pinehurst Wins.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 5.—(AP) Pinehurst defeated Florida, 16 1/2 to 4 1/2 in the seventh annual golf team play. The Nassau system of scoring was used.

Parker W. Whittemore, Brookline, Mass., teamed with C. Ross Somerville, former Canadian amateur champion, to win for the victors an important match with George Voight, north and south champion, and Robert Stranahan, taking all three points.

hands back close to the right thigh on the back swing.

In the first place, this helps to prevent taking the club head back outside the line of flight. In the second place, it makes for greater simplicity in hitting from the "inside out" on the down swing. And it adds to the general compactness of the swing.

When the hands start back closer to the right leg the left side is more likely to turn in a natural way. Almost any golfer can try a few swings after this fashion and see the difference it makes. But it is something that must first be tried in practice, and not saved for any competitive round, where there are usually too many things to think about without adding another complication.

Dodgers Get Revenge for Wednesday's Trimming; Pound Total of 22 Hits While Atlantans Get Four.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

Mr. Nick Cullop will be a visitor in Atlanta today. Nick Cullop, the lad who was responsible for numerous home runs and extra base hits during the summer of 1925 when Atlanta was busily engaged in winning a Southern association pennant.

But Nick won't be playing for Atlanta today. He went up to Washington after the 1925 season and now he's playing with the Buffalo Bisons, champions last year of the International league. And, according to reports at hand, Nicholas is knocking the ball just as hard and far as he ever did and seems set for a big year with the Bisons.

The Bisons are coming here to open a two-game series. Today's game starts promptly at 3 o'clock, and Colonel Spiller was of the opinion Thursday afternoon that Atlanta would be out in large numbers to see its old favorite in action once more, even though he is wearing the colors of the opposition.

Buffalo is wounding its way northward from the Florida training camps, leaving in its wake a trail of consternation and several defeated ball clubs, among them major leaguers. Not only that, the Crackers are up against Class A opposition, and they'll have their hands full.

Chastened. It'll be a thoroughly chastened bunch playing for the home side this afternoon.

Monday and Wednesday your Crackers knocked off a couple of big league teams and made base hit on base hit until the total mounted to 32 for two games. Then Thursday, Uncle Wilbert Robinson, of Brooklyn's Dodgers, whom the Crackers had beaten Wednesday, rallied his clan. Result, Atlanta got two hits and two runs. Brooklyn got 22 hits and 15 runs. Therefore Brooklyn won, 15-2.

It was purely slaughter and nothing else. These Brooklyn lads were hitting any and everything that came over the plate and knocking the ball far, wide and handsome. There were two home runs, first of the 1928 exhibition season, and six doubles made. All of them flew from Dodger bats.

The Crackers weren't hitting the sizes of their respective bats. But don't get worried. It was just a week ago that it became the painful duty of this correspondent to pound out the dismal tale of how the Crackers journeyed to Macon, Ga., played nine innings and got two hits and two runs. Then they came back, and you may observe what took place during the early part of the week. Robbed.

Two Crackers were robbed of hits during the game by means of circus catches on the part of Dave Bancroft at short and Rube Bressler in left field. Bancroft snagged one in the third screaming over short from the bat of Johnny Jones. The ball seemed to have "bass hit" written all over it, but "Bass" jumped in the air to make a spectacular one-handed catch. The next time Jones came up he cracked a single to right field that brought Strand and West galloping across the rubber with the Crackers' only two runs.

Bressler, with four hits out of five times up—two of them doubles—led the Dodgers at bat. Tyson and Jigger Stutz obliged with home runs. Tyson made his in the fourth inning, off Red Bates, who was pounded for 12 hits and eight runs in four innings. Stutz hit for the circuit in the sixth off Johnny Adcock.

The Dodgers began their scoring in the first inning and kept it up until the final. They got hits in every inning and scored in every one but the third.

Following a conference with Uncle Wilbert Robinson, Colonel Spiller announced that nothing had taken place except that Alphonso Lopez, flashy young catcher now trying out with the Crackers, would be sent to Macon. The proviso was made, however, that Atlanta can swap Angley, who will be held as reserve catcher, for Lopez at any time. Lopez is a great mechanical catcher, but his hitting isn't up to the level of Angley's. If Angley fails in the hitting then Lopez will be recalled.

Stiles Attaway Meets Billiards Tonight at Auditorium

Plenty of Action On Tap for Tonight

Mayson Books Five Good Preliminaries—Bouts Start at 8:30—Large Crowds Expected.

Two boxing gentlemen, very well known by this time to Atlanta fight fans, will put their best blows forward tonight at the auditorium when Stiles Attaway, Gainesville's pride and joy, and T. Billiards, ugliest man in the ring and about as tough as he is ugly, mix in the 12-round main bout of a fight card promoted by George Crowley. The first bout starts at 8:30 o'clock. Doors at the auditorium will open at 7:30 o'clock.

According to advance dope emanating from Mr. James Mayson, who did the matchmaking for Crowley, more than several people are going to be on hand for this bout tonight. The two, you'll remember, have fought here before. Billiards, among several others, claims he should have gotten a decision. The bout ended in a draw. So there'll be people there tonight to see just who is and who isn't.

Attaway has had a rapid rise to southern ring fame and glory, if any. He began boxing only two years ago, after Eddie Hanlon had discovered the husky young man atop a line pole working for the Georgia Power company. Hanlon, himself an old ring veteran, saw possibilities in Attaway and began training him. In a short while Attaway had won the southern middleweight title.

Growing.

But Attaway is young and growing. He is over the middleweight limit now and so is Billiards. The two

Challenge

The winner of tonight's fight at the auditorium between Stiles Attaway and Tommy Billiards will not have to look very far for his next fight. For Ralph Taylor, promising and prominent young scrapper of LaGrange, Ga., has challenged the winner of tonight's fight.

Taylor complains that he has repeatedly, through his manager, sought a bout here in Atlanta, with Attaway, but that the local promoter wouldn't put him on. So now Ralph has come right out in the open and challenged tonight's winner. It is thought that he will get the bout.

Tech Teams In Five Events On Saturday

Baseball, Golf, Track, Swimming and Lacrosse Teams To Be Active.

BY ROGER PAGE.

A big day is on hand for Georgia Tech athletes Saturday.

No less than five major attractions will hold the attention of sport lovers on that day.

The University of Maryland is sending its baseball team to Atlanta to engage "Kid" Clay's Jackets in a one-game affair to be played on Clay field at 3 o'clock. The Tech club has not lost a single conference game on the diamond this season. The Maryland team boasts a fighting aggregation. A good test is therefore at hand for the Jackets.

At 3 o'clock on Grant field the strong Fort Benning lacrosse team will lock sticks with Dr. Crenshaw's men in the second of the three-game series scheduled this season. The army officers, many of whom have seen service on West Point's squads and various other lacrosse teams throughout the country, are expected to give the "butcher" chasers of Tech a good deal of trouble. They also play on Grant field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the first game of the season for both clubs.

Track Meet.

The annual interfraternity track meet is scheduled to take place at 1:30 o'clock, in which all the Greek letter men on the campus are to participate. This meet has always been a spirited affair at Tech, over 20 fraternities entering teams for the honors. Last year the Sigma Nu chapter won by a large majority.

Another important event on the jacket card for Saturday is the golf match with the University of Georgia's crack team. Watts Gunn, captain of the Jackets this year, will lead his men out to East Lake about 2 o'clock and start the ball rolling around the links in one of the hardest matches Tech has on its schedule this season. The Bulldogs have always presented a strong golf club, and the match should be quite interesting, especially since it is another Tech-Georgia affair.

Mermen.

At the Atlanta Athletic club Saturday night the mermen of Clemson college will swim against the unfettered Tech team, the meet starting at 7 o'clock. In nearly every one of the meets held this season a southern record has been broken by members of the Tech team. The relay team has been working hard lately in an effort to shorten the record held by them, and the Tigers from Clemson are also said to be working hard to give the Jackets the first defeat of the season.

Look over the above and take your choice for the Yellow Jackets will be buzzing around everywhere on Saturday.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

A Good Fight.

If one is to believe all he sees in Atlanta dailies there is to be a fight at the auditorium tonight. In fact, if one is to believe all he sees, there is to be a REAL fight at the auditorium tonight. We, among others, are inclined to believe considerably more than half of what we see in this respect. Almost undoubtedly there WILL be a fight tonight when Stiles Attaway and Tommy Billiards meet for the second time in their respective careers.

There are several reasons why this should be a fight worth seeing. One of the most important reasons lies in history. A few months ago Tommy Billiards fought the Attaway lad in Atlanta and the thing ended in a draw. Tommy has done more than a little squawking since that time to the effect that he should have had a decision. It was not our privilege to see the imbroglio, but certain experts have told us that Tommy was more than half right in his squawking.

But that is history, and the battle tonight will be history Saturday morning. Mr. T. Billiards declares for all and sundry to hear that the story will be different, and Attaway also declares that it will be different—that this time he is going to stiffen Mr. Billiards out like a cold poker.

Obviously they don't both mean the same thing, and also obviously they can't both be right. A goodly number of fans will be on hand to see just which one is a prophet—if any. A good fight is in prospect at any rate.

Well Done.

As chronicled before in this and other columns, the winning or losing of exhibition games means less than nothing in the standing of the league at the end of September, BUT one need not stretch the imagination to the breaking point to find considerable solace in the performance of the Crackers against the Yanks on Monday and the Dodgers on Wednesday.

Timely hitting and plenty of it at all times won from the Yanks and a timely hit by Johnny Jones in the final frame of the Dodger game did the trick on Wednesday, but to those who are watching the Crackers closely this season the Wednesday game offered something of greater interest than the mere bingling of bingles. That item has to do with the pitching of "Uncle Dudley," rookie pitcher with the Crax.

The official box score shows that the Dodgers managed to get one lone safety off the delivery of Mr. Dudley in six innings. The Dodgers have never been accused of being particularly effective at the plate. Their strength has been on the defense and in the box, but to hold any major league team to one lonely safety in six frames is proof enough that a pitcher has pitched well in at least one game of his life. It is also encouraging to discover that Dudley walked nary a man in the six frames, yet he couldn't have slipped many "fat" ones across the pan.

Answer Requested.

This is the telegram. If you have absolutely nothing at all to do with your time you might get out a pencil and paper and a pair of dice and figure your own answer.

Mrs. Hill Wins North-South Title

Pinehurst, N. C., April 5.—(P)—Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, former trans-Mississippi woman's golf champion, today became united north and south champion by defeating Miss Virginia Van Wie, 19-year-old Chicago girl, six and five.

Mrs. Hill, by her victory today, established herself as one of the top-notch woman golfers of the country. To reach the finals she disposed of two champions. She defeated Miss Helen Payson, Canadian titleholder, five and three, to reach the semi-finals and disposed of Miss Glenna Collett, north and south champion and former national titleholder, one up yesterday.

Mrs. Hill won the short sixth in three and holed a six-foot putt for a birdie four on the 443-yard eighth. On the tenth she recovered from a poor second to win in five when Miss Van Wie sliced into the woods and then missed a four-foot putt for a half. An eight-foot putt netted her the eleventh when Miss Van Wie was trapped and missed a 12-foot putt and the match ended on the thirteenth when Miss Van Wie sliced to the fourteenth tee and Mrs. Hill dropped a par.

Their cards:
Mrs. Hill, out 354 443 554—39
In 545 4 18—57
Miss Van Wie out 558 554 555—63

Huber, regular third baseman with the Philadelphia Nationals for three seasons prior to 1927 and who ranked ninth in hitting in the International circuit last season, will report here immediately, Allen said.

A.A.C. To Dine '28 Cage Team Wednesday

Each Member of Club's Varsity Squad To Be Given Gold Basketball.

The members of the Atlanta Athletic club basketball team which brought the championship of the Southeastern A. A. U. to Atlanta this past season will be presented with gold basketballs by the athletic club next Wednesday night at a dinner at the club.

This information was volunteered by Al Doonan, athletic director of the club and one of the directors of the Southeastern A. A. U., in a statement Thursday afternoon.

Then men will be given the trophies and this number includes every man who played on the "crasity" squad of the club during the year. The men to be honored, with their respective positions are as follows:

Forwards: Stephens, Captain Brewer, Frens, Johnson, Centers: Bell, Bennett, Guards: McCrory, Ridgeway, Eckford, Bass.

The A. A. C. team started the season with every promise of winning all the games on their hard schedule and would have done so except for one upset in the semi-final games of the season. In this scrap Mercer won by a few points and ruined their chances for a perfect season but the club officials believed that their record was sufficiently good to deserve some recompense and the gold basketballs are the result of this belief.

The dinner is to be the usual informal affair with no "speake" of the evening" but before the dinner is finished several players and guests will be called upon for informal talks.

Snow and Rain Hamper Runners

Amarillo, Texas, April 5.—(P)—Snow and rain hampered the racers in the coast to coast foot derby today but failed to impede Pat De Marr, of Los Angeles, who showed at his best in the rough going to lead the van into Amarillo over a 37-mile stretch from Vega, Texas.

De Marr's time was 5:20:42. He is well down the list on the basis of elapsed time, having covered the 1,180 miles from Los Angeles in 297:24:44.

New York, April 5.—(AP)—New York traction bonds were in the lead of a general advance on the bond market today. Trading was moderately active. A slight tightening of time money rates apparently had no effect on buying of high-grade issues, which probably reflected further investment of quarter-end disbursements.

The $55,000,000 Denmark 4 1/2 per cent bond was reported promptly offered, Copenhagen

City, however, dropped about a point on realizing. Other foreign bonds were irregular.

Interborough Rapid Transit

advanced 1/2 point to 102 1/2

on a new high, still points in the movement of the city to take over the new Manhattan Railway attained new high levels.

Delaware and Hudson convertible

bonds responded to the strength of the Chicago and Alton 3 1/2's, which sold for their bid prices of the year. Hudson

Great Northern adjusted 6 1/2's also received good support.

Trials, particularly American advanced 2 1/2 to 123 1/2, which record. Andes is, however,

lost a point and some other bonds were slightly lower on realizing after steady advance.

As part of a refunding trend,

International Cement corporation will be offered shortly.

Dividends.

New York, April 5.—American

Machine declared an extra dividend of 10 cents on the common stock, in addition to regular dividend of 10 cents, making total of 20 cents on the common and 10 cents on the preferred.

Rice.

New Orleans, April 5.—Rough rice

quiet; sales and receipts none; clear

rice unchanged.
